Restores Original Package After Bellicose Tirade by Democrat

MADISON—The Assembly approved an income tax withholding system Wednesday in a burst of GOP unanimity born of a bellicose tirade by an opposing Democrat. The plan, approved by a 51 to 44 vote, includes 100 per cent forgiveness of 1961 state income taxes.

Approved first was a withholding provision which provided forgiveness of 1961 taxes but limited it to earnings of $10,000 or less. This is a provision known to be favored by Gov. Gaylord Nelson. Democrat Frank Nikolay, Abbot'sford, at this point turned the Assembly into an uproar when he charged the Republicans with "deceit, fraud and lying."

Outburst so angered the GOP that an amendment was drafted returning the withholding proposal to its original form. It was adopted on a straight party line vote with even the most outspoken Republican foes of the measure voting for it.

On Tuesday GOP infighting prompted 15 Republicans to join 45 Democrats in rejecting a withholding proposal that granted complete tax forgiveness. This defeat prompted Republicans to advance the Nelson plan for consideration.

It took a two-hour Republican caucus to convince party members they should support withholding.

Republican leaders argued that if withholding is not included in the bill it faces a sure veto by Nelson. Also, those who were bafled, at this point turned the Assembly into an uproar when he charged the Republicans with "deceit, fraud and lying."

When the vote on Nelson's plan came, Democrats protested returning the withholding proposal to its original form. It was adopted on a straight party line vote with even the most outspoken Republican foes of the measure voting for it.

Air Reserve, Guard Has to Remain Ready

Early Alert Gives Men Time to Arrange Personal Affairs

WASHINGTON—The 28,000 men in the Air National Guard and Air Reserve who have been alerted for possible recall to active duty should act on the assumption that all will be called up in the next few months.

The advance alert, which went out from Air Force headquarters here Tuesday, is intended to give the airmen a margin of time to arrange their personal affairs.

The call-up of these fighter, reconnaissance and transport squadron units is essential to the latest defense department plans for increasing its choice of reaction to a Berlin crisis, if one develops.

The aim of the plans, set in motion by President Kennedy, is to strengthen America's neglected non-nuclear forces so that there will be alternatives to doing nothing or going straight into a nuclear war.

The 28,000 airmen will be part of a force of some 250,000 who will be added to the U. S. armed services.

A possible double role is in prospect for both the fighter pilots and the transport crews. The latter could be used to fly army reinforcements from here to Berlin.

Wanted to Take Airliner to Cuba

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Federal authorities gained control of a $5 million jet airliner after four bungling hijackers terrorized its passengers and crew for hours today and said they planned to take the plane to Cuba.

El Paso police said at 11:15 a.m. (MST) that only two hijackers, FBI Agent Francis Crosby and an immigration officer was aboard at that time.

Two hijackers surrendered shortly before and left the plane, together with four passenger-hostages and the crew of six.

The FBI said two hijackers and four male crewmen remained aboard the plane after the hostage passengers, two hijackers and the hostesses debarked.

All were sped away in waiting automobiles and were not allowed to talk to newsmen.

The four gunmen took charge of the plane only 20 minutes from El Paso on a Los Angeles to Houston run.

Aboard the plane were 67 passengers, including the hijackers, and a crew of six.

In congress, the third Cuban hijacking since May 1 brought loud outcries for action by the United States against Cuba and its dictator, Fidel Castro.

Reports Conflict

There were conflicting reports as to the number of gunmen involved. Most passengers spoke of two. Miss Nancy Pearsall, a reservation agent for Continental, said she understood there were four.

The airline's ground crew stalled for time and efforts were made to negotiate with the gunmen.

The ground crews took four hours to refuel the plane. They took up more time with a check of the hydraulic system and other mechanical parts.

Armed Men Stand By

About 30 armed officers — border patrolmen, FBI and Secret Service agents, state police and sheriff's officers — had rushed to the airport and stood by.

Passengers said the hijackers demanded that they be given a DC7 as ransom for the jet if they could not get the jet refueled. Howard Berg, public relations man for Continental, said the airline offered to trade a DC7 for the jet but the hijackers turned it down.

The tower at one point gave the plane clearance to take off. As it

Khrushchev Set to Give Guarantees

Tells Italians Peace Treaty With Reds Won't Mean War

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev reportedly went to Amintore Fanfani Wednesday night that he is still determined to sign a peace treaty with Communist East Germany but is adamant in his determination to go ahead with the treaty, saying "If there is a possibility to resume talks, we must exploit it entirely."

But Khrushchev was reported ready to give "whatever guarantee is wanted" for West Berlin. Italian newsmen accompanying Fanfani reported Khrushchev told him already been fixed by myself.

"It is not an obstacle that the two sections of Berlin live in different social regimes. If (West) Berlin people have chosen the capitalist regime, well, let them keep it."

Won't Mean War

Khrushchev was quoted as saying the Soviet signing of a peace treaty with East Germany "would not mean war — the Americans and their allies say so because they want war."

South Viet Nam Calls More Men

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — South Viet Nam is calling up its senior high school graduates between 25 and 33 years old for training as reserve officers.

No estimate of the number of men eligible was given, but the order falls considerably short of a full-scale mobilization in the age group.

The majority of South Viet Nam's men continue to be eligible for military service under the nation's conscription program or previously announced callups of reserves.

Porter Explains Implications of British Action

One of the biggest and most significant of the current stories about Great Britain is that country's announcement of a record austerity program. The causes for the program, which interrupts what appeared an all-time record boom, are also the least understood.

In this evening's edition of the Post-Crescent, Sylvia Porter presents a clear and concise analysis of the reasons for Britain's action and its future implications.

Coming at a time when the financial health of our British ally is of vital importance to the United States, this series should have a big appeal to our readers.

Sylvia Porter's column appears on Page B-13 of this evening's Appleton Post-Crescent.

16 U. S. Tourists Die as Swiss Bus Runs Into Lake

Vehicle at 165-Foot Depth After Crash With Trailer

HERGISWIL, Switzerland (AP) — Divers groping through the chill depths of Lake Lucerne today located the tourist bus that plunged off a rain-slick road after colliding with a truck and carried 16 American vacationers to death.

One of the 22 survivors described the accident as "the noise, the jolt and a crash — all too quick."

Among the dead were Miss Margaret Rehnstrand, 63, a Superior, Wis., school teacher, and Mrs. Evelyn G. Sweeney, 64, a Milwaukee teacher.

The bus, carrying 35 American passengers and a staff of three child have participated in the night and day civil rights sit-in truck — trailer Wednesday and crashed through the railing where the highway is carved out of an almost sheer rock cliff rising from the water.

Mrs. Sweeney Miss Rehnstrand

Fifteen bodies, by police count, were in the bus when it was catapulted at a depth of about 165 feet by special electromagnetic equipment. It lay more than 60 feet offshore, having slid off a ledge after its first plunge.

In the few minutes before the vehicle slid to the bottom, 19 passengers and the three crew members fought their way out through the windows.

All but two of the survivors were kept overnight in hospitals. Doctors said nearly all would be released in a few days.

"The bus was filled with water in a matter of seconds," said

Sit-in Goes Into 4th Day At Madison

MADISON (AP) — An 86-year-old woman, whose parents were born in slavery, and a 4-year-old child have participated in the night and day civil rights sit-in going into its fourth day in the rotunda of the Wisconsin state house.

There are many people willing to take a turn, says Lloyd Barbee, a Madison attorney who is president of the Wisconsin chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP).

"We have heard from two other groups who have established committees to help us," Barbee said today as he passed his third all-night vigil.

"We plan to keep balanced in the legislature adjourns," Barbee said.

Their aim is a bill designed to prevent discrimination in housing and to expand the powers of the Governor's Commission on Human Rights.

One such bill was killed by the state assembly two weeks ago. Similar measures are pending in both the assembly and senate.

Lawmakers, however, have said little official attention to the demonstration, concentrating instead on continuing wrangle over tax revision.

Celestial Blabber-Mouth

'Broadcasts' From Sun Yielding Many Vital Secrets to Science

BLACKSBURG, Va. (AP) — Science is cashing in on the fact that the sun has turned out to be a radio broadcasting blabber-mouth, one of the world's foremost radio astronomers says.

Dr. Joseph L. Pawsey of the Radio Physics Laboratory, Sydney, Australia, said the star that supports life on earth — and also is responsible for terrestrial troubles like communications blackouts and the vagaries of weather — is yielding more and more of their secrets by means of radio waves generated within her hot gaseous body.

These radio waves, he told a conference of American and Canadian space scientists Wednesday are detectable on the earth 93 million miles away by giant antennas and other sensitive instruments located in various parts of the world. By studying them, scientists can make deductions about the characteristics of solar areas through which the waves have passed enroute to the earth.

Hydrogen Gas Clouds

He said the sun is constantly broadcasting some kind of radio waves, but really goes to town during periods of violence on the solar sphere — such as during the times of sunspot activity or when great "prominences" and "flares" shoot like fiery fingers thousands of miles into space.

Flares are the things which send great clouds of hydrogen gas shooting towards the earth at speeds up to 1,000 miles a second, contributing to the magnetic disturbances which sometimes bedev agency is planning special satellite the radio and other communi-cations on earth. Flares also con-tribute to spewing out intense bursts of ultraviolet light and X-rays, which may play a role in making the earth's water. And they also figure some in the gen-eration of solar cosmic rays.

Dr. Pawsey told the conference, studies of radio waves emit-ted by the sun at such times of violence are helping build up a better understanding of the mech-anism of flares — and understand-ing which might lead to better means of forecasting their occur-rence.

New Methods Found

He also said the techniques of solar radio astronomy — now only 19 years old as a science — have provided researchers with very powerful new methods of deter-mining the structure of the at-mosphere.

The conference Pawsey ad-dressed is jointly sponsored by Virginia Polytechnic Institute, the National Science Foundation and the Langley (Va.) Research Cen-ter of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

In another key report Wednes-day, a famed British scientist, Dr. Sydney Chapman, said new, al-though still indirect, evidence sug-gests the possibility there may be a third "Van Allen" radiation belt surrounding the earth.

Indicating that such a belt con-ceivably might provide an addi-tional hazard for certain types of manned space flight missions, Dr. Chapman said the civilian space-

Chapman is now doing research at the high altitude laboratory of the University of Colorado.

U.S. Annoyed Over Flareup in Tunisia

Kennedy, Rusk Believe 4-Day War Could Have Been Easily Avoided With Understanding, Flexibility

By ENDRE MARTON — State Department may have something to report when the Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk are said to consider the 4-day war in Tunisia as something which could have been avoided easily with a little more understanding and flexibility on both sides.

Both Kennedy and Rusk are said to be extremely annoyed by the sudden flareup over the French naval and air base at Bizerte.

They made their feelings clear. It has been learned on good authority, in lengthy talks Wednesday with Tunisian Defense Minister Bahi Ladgham.

Reluctant to Talk

U.S. officials were under instruction to withhold information on the conference Wednesday at the White House and the State Department. And Tunisian diplomats were equally reluctant to talk with newsmen after the session.

The White House press secretary, Pierre Salinger, indicated, however, that either he or the

Special U.N. Session Near

Asian-African Nations Lack Just Three Supporters

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Asian-African nations seeking a special session of the U.N. General Assembly to debate the French-Tunisian crisis lacked the endorsement of only three nations today, but the session was not expected to begin before Monday or Tuesday.

With signatures of 37 delegates on their petition and those of the nine-nation Soviet bloc and Cuba assured, the supporters pre-empted that by Friday they would have the remaining three to give them the majority of the 99 U.N. members necessary to convene the assembly.

Last Four Days

U.N. officials made preparations for a session early next week. They expected it to last about four days.

Chief U.S. Delegate Adlai E. Stevenson conferred Wednesday with Tunisian Ambassador Mongi Slim in an effort to avert the session in favor of peace talks between France and Tunisia. But, informed sources said Slim was adamant, and that there was no conciliatory sign from the French, that might make negotiations imminent.

Dutch Government Puts Restrictions on Credit

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP) — The government Wednesday decreed new credit restrictions to curb inflation. The new measures are aimed chiefly at installment buying of consumer goods. Minimum down payments are increased from 15 per cent of the purchase price to as much as 50 per cent of the purchase price.

Senate Won't Accept Simple Aid Extension

Federally Impacted Areas Not Only Ones In Need of Help

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., served notice today that Congress will have to vote on school construction grants if it wants to continue aid to federally impacted areas.

Humphrey, assistant Senate leader, said notice had been given to House Democratic leaders that the Senate isn't going to accept a simple extension of aid for schools in districts crowded because of federal installations.

"These districts undoubtedly should get aid, but there are other school districts which also need aid and I believe the Senate intends to see they get it," Humphrey said in an interview.

Federal Aid Bill

The Senate already has passed a $2.5 billion federal aid to education bill, carrying grants for classroom construction and teachers salaries. Also included in the measure was authorization for continuance of impacted area aid.

This measure, along with several other Kennedy administration proposals, has been stalemated in the House Rules Committee. Because 315 House members are from districts which get impacted area aid, there have been suggestions that a simple extension of this authority be passed.

About $300 million a year has been spent on this program, authority for which expired last June 30.

Back to House

Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, the House Republican leader, told a news conference Wednesday action on an extension bill could be taken quickly, "if the Democratic leadership would just get behind it."

But unless the Senate accepted such a measure in the exact form it passed the House, the bill would have to go back to the House Rules Committee where it probably would be added to the pile of stalemated proposals.

Humphrey said he is certain the Senate will write additional clauses in any such bill for school construction and possibly for the teachers' salaries.

The Senate indicted Wednesday that Humphrey's prediction was well grounded when it rejected by a 57-37 vote a surprise Republican move to write a three-year extension of the impacted areas authority into a pending appropriations bill.

WASHINGTON — The population clock in the main lobby at the Department of Commerce just keeps ticking along. Every 7-1/2 seconds a light flashes for a new birth, every 19 seconds for a death, every 1-1/2 minutes for a new immigrant, and every 23 minutes for an emigrant.

This all averages out to a net gain of a new American every 10-1/2 seconds.

The clock never runs down, never needs winding, and has no alarm.

The Sister of Wisconsin Gov. Gaylord Nelson, Mrs. Janet Nelson Lee of Madison, Wednesday joined demonstrators staging sit-in protest in the capitol to support expanded civil rights legislation. While the Legislature meets, members of the protest group are occupying chairs in the capitol rotunda. They say they'll stay until lawmakers act in civil rights field or adjourn session. He and five followers were convicted of truancy in March after they refused to send their youngsters to approved schools.

He established his own school, taught by followers, on the estate. Harrell said he was directed by the Lord to protect Davis, who Harrell said arrived at the estate about two weeks ago after leaving Camp Lejeune, N. C.

Harrell is the founder of the anti-communist Christian Church, which has headquarters on his estate in a replica of George Washington's Mount Vernon house.

Guards are posted around the grounds and Harrell said Hawks could not see the Marine unless he laid aside his pistol. Hawks declined.

Harrell told a newsmen: "The FBI is the only organization left in this country we can trust. But goodness knows, they just might shoot the poor lad."

"Davis is just another victim of communist infiltration," Harrell said, adding, "he'll stay right here with me, and they'll take him over my dead body."

French Determined to Defend Rights of Allies in Berlin

De Gaulle Has 4-Point Argument Against Giving Ground to Reds

PARIS — Sec. of State Dean Rusk will find the French as resolute as he himself to defend the rights of the West in Berlin when he arrives here tomorrow for the western foreign ministers' conference.

Bill Calls for Safety Belts In All Autos

If Passed Cars in Wisconsin Must be Equipped in '62

MADISON (AP) — All new cars sold in Wisconsin would have to be equipped with front seat safety belts under terms of a bill passed by the Senate Wednesday.

The measure, which has cleared the Assembly, would go into effect with 1962 models. Gov. Gaylord Nelson is known to favor the bill and is expected to sign it into law.

Before the Senate's 22-9 vote of approval there were repeated attempts to amend the measure and limit its provisions to the installation of seat belt anchors.

Opposed by Lorge

"Then each individual motorist can decide for himself if he wants to make use of them," said Sen. Gerald Lorge, R-Bear Creek, one of the chief opponents of the bill.

Sen. Reuben LaFave, R-Oconto, in another attempt to defeat the bill, offered an amendment that would have subjected motorists not wearing seat belts to a one-point penalty under the state's demerit system for traffic violations. This amendment was defeated.

Biggest Fraud

Lorge challenged safety claims made for seat belts and said the mandatory provision of the bill helped "perpetrate one of the biggest frauds in this state."

He said accident statistics could not disclose "how many people might burn to death because they're strapped into their cars."

"Putting seat belts in cars is one thing," said LaFave, "getting them to be used is another."

Lorge and LaFave both argued that mailmen and deliverymen displaced the blacksmith. Many would be forced to meet the cost of modern steel mills still have one of the manufacturer's installation or more blacksmiths, whose job even though their work would not it is to make special parts.

he arrives here tomorrow for the western foreign ministers' conference.

French President Charles de Gaulle has a four-point argument against giving ground in Berlin which is clearcut and marked with galleic wit:

— The West cannot compromise its rights in Berlin which are internationally recognized and which it won in battle.

— Any Western concession in Berlin during Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's present aggressive mood would immediately bring Soviet demands for more concessions by the West in other areas of East-West tension.

— The faintest hint of Western weakness right now would disturb allies of the free world such as the Scandinavians and Turks and would encourage neutralist nations to move closer to the communist bloc. There is danger the allies would begin to doubt Western ability or willingness to protect them.

— West Germans would consider any compromise on Berlin as a "letdown" and might eventually turn to the Soviets as the only hope of re-unifying their country.

The French believe Khrushchev's aim is to try to drive a wedge into the Atlantic alliance. De Gaulle is convinced that if the West remains firmly united, Khrushchev will not go to war over Berlin.

French reports describe Soviet military preparations in Eastern Europe as far from having reached the "danger point." Soviet divisions are reported to be at only half normal strength and armament and divisions of the satellite nations are considered by the Russians as being far from reliable.

De Gaulle's instructions to Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville, who will head the French delegation, can be summarized in two key words, "firmness and secrecy."

The press will not be permitted to attend the discussions and will get only broadly general briefings on what is said.

The three days of talks among Rusk, Couve and British Foreign Secretary Lord Home are described in Paris today as designed to explore East-West relations but not to arrive at any final decisions.

The talks will lay groundwork for the western summit meeting this fall.

West German Foreign Minister Heinrich Von Brentano is expected to attend the Paris meeting.

Menominee Diggers Looking for Piece of Copper Age Charcoal

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MENOMINEE, Mich.—Wanted, a piece of charcoal. Here along the banks of the Menominee River, a crew of some 16 volunteer diggers and their mentor, Archaeologist Robert Hruska, search avidly for artifacts from an ancient, prehistoric village and burial grounds, but a good piece of charcoal might be enough of a find to stimulate some articulate but unscientific "hura-huhs."

Already the excavation of the ancient site has proven to be "absolutely successful," according to Hruska, who is in charge of the operation, but a bit of charcoal found in such a position that it would surely be known to have been part of an ancient campfire would underscore the success. Hruska, curator of anthropology at the Oshkosh Public Museum, is working in conjunction with Dr. Robert Rittenberg in a minute study of what the plentiful charcoal in the line, Hruska discarded it as "an uncertainty."

"It could be what we are looking for," he said, "but I think not. It appears to me that lightning struck a tree or a stump and that it burned the roots as far down as five feet below the surface. I am not convinced that this is from a campfire."

Hruska's interest is to have a positive dating of the period the Old Copper Age people lived here near the present modern Riverside Cemetery. A previous Carbon 14 test showed the age of the submitted charcoal to be 3,046 years old. Hruska, however, seeks charcoal proving that the ancient people lived here as long ago as 5,000 years.

On another site where the ancient copper age people lived, the Carbon 14 test made in 1953 proved that they lived in Wisconsin as long ago as 5,600 years. The evidence then was termed "the most important archaeological discovery in Wisconsin's history." It proved that the earliest Wisconsin people known up to that time had lived there in about 3647 B.C.

The C14 analysis which has solved many a prehistoric mystery of time and place is named after an isotope of Carbon which is called C14, for its atomic campfire of a Boy Scout troop or weight. Ordinary carbon has an atomic weight of 12.

Scientists have learned that C14 has a half-life of about 5,568 charcoal — an old, old one.

"I wouldn't request a Carbon 14 test on something that I am not absolutely certain about," he said.

In one discovery of evidence of a large fire, deeply buried in the sand, there was hope that some absolute Old Copper Age association could be made. But there was too much charcoal in that pit and it discolored the earth in a long strangely curved line.

After hopeful examination of Customers often order from one sister, pay another and tip the third.

Tuna Fishing Area Is Major Food Area
ITHACA, N. Y. (AP)—The tropical Atlantic Ocean near West Africa is so rich in tuna that it may help feed the world's rapidly expanding population, a Cornell University study shows.

Indications are it will be one of the world's finest protein sources. The area has been overlooked by fishermen.

Gilbert W. Bane, graduate student at the New York State College of Agriculture at Cornell, says the concentration of yellowfin tuna in the South Atlantic "equals anything I have ever seen off the Pacific Coast in the main tuna area between California and Chile."

WEBSTER, N.Y. (AP)—After Webster Peace Justice Jack Van Ingen sentenced 21 speeders he invited them to watch a demonstration of the distances needed to stop while traveling at various speeds. Oscar, a sawdust-filled dummy, was thrown onto a road in front of a car driven by an officer. At 60 miles an hour, it took 253 feet to stop the car.

Cuban Exiles Fail to Move Washington

Little Chance Seen for Embargo, Less for Recognition of Refugees

BY DOM BONAFIDE
Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — Cuban exile leaders making periodic pilgrimages here find their prayers going unanswered.

Congressional and White House officials report there is only a slight chance for a complete economic embargo against Cuba.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.), a ranking member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, stated:

"It is impossible to put an embargo on Cuba. Such thinking indicates immaturity and lack of understanding. It would not be workable unless other countries go along."

In Direct Business Humphrey added that a full embargo "denies American businessmen the right to do business directly and permits them to do it indirectly."

Currently, U.S. buyers are paying Castro more than $40 million a year for Cuban tobacco, pine-apple, lobster and other imports.

One congressman maintained he may change his mind should the anti-Castro movement continue to flourish.

A reflection of trouble among the exiles was the recent drumming out of Manolo Ray, a controversial left-winger who headed the Peoples Revolutionary Movement (MRP) in Miami. After the invasion failure, Ray pulled the MRP out of the revolutionary council and a short time later was purged from his own organization.

Informants here maintain that Miro Cardona set the stage by sending packets of pesos to the MRP underground in Cuba. Along with the pesos was a suggestion that Ray be fired—or else the MRP could not expect similar gifts in the future.

Ray is now expected to go to Guatemala to meet with President Carlos Prío Socarras. Discouraged Cuban exiles here are showing signs of coming out of the shadows in which he emerged from the underground to remain since he fled from Cuba last year. The still wealthy tunnels to knock on doors here.

16 Americans Die in Swiss Bus Disaster

Stanley M. Smith, 54, of Kansas City, Mo. "We hardly even knew what happened."

Describes Sinking

In the next hospital bed, Charles Krepps, 65, a research analyst from Los Angeles, described the horror-filled moment when the bus plunged into the lake.

"The bus turned over on its side before we hit the water and it seemed to me it was still turning when I put my feet out and gave myself a shove to the surface," he said.

Krepps and Smith fought their way through a window in the forward part of the bus. They said the rear door wouldn't open. Most were seated toward the rear.

Mrs. Pannier Mrs. Winter

A floating tire and ropes thrown from shore helped two sisters from Milwaukee, Wis., to survive the ordeal. They were Nora Pannier and her sister, Vynita Winter, both teachers. They suffered only cuts and bruises.

"We were able to open a window and I think maybe we were pushed out by the pressure of water pouring into the bus," said Mrs. Pannier.

Thirteen of the 15 trapped in the bus were women. The body of an elderly woman was recovered Wednesday night. She apparently had escaped from the bus as it slid out of sight but drowned.

Honeymooners Escape

Two honeymooners, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Work, each 21, of Ambour, Austria, Italy and Connellsville, Pa., were released from hospital and taken to the Lucerne Hotel where rooms were reserved for the entire party.

Divers failed in their first attempt to reach the vehicle, but more heavy equipment was rushed to the scene for the attempt to hook the bus with steel cables.

Barges with cranes and winches were floated into position to lift the vehicle once it is secured.

The electromagnetic apparatus found the bus site two hours after dawn.

Police blocked off the narrow mountain highway to keep a gathering crowd of hundreds of spectators away from the rescue operation.

Envoy Sees Survivors

U.S. Ambassador Robert M. McKinney visited the survivors and said: "None seems to have any serious injuries. A few have very minor injuries but they will be up and around, I am sure, in a few days."

McKinney said "the prompt and extremely sympathetic response by both the Swiss officials and private citizens in this tragic accident is a great and shining example of the Swiss spirit of humanitarianism, for which I expressed the thanks of my country."

rolled forward, officers opened fire at the tires and the huge jet slowed to a stop. It was immediately ringed again by vehicles.

People swarmed around the plane, apparently unconcerned about the possibility of gunfire from the hijackers. Five mechanics were underneath the plane at one point.

Describes Seizure

Attempts were made to hold spectators back but some pushed to within 20 yards of the plane. With the Texas desert heat rising and the plane's air conditioner off, one witness to the wild scene predicted "they won't last long in there." The thermometer has been touching near 100 degrees daily.

Jerry McCauley, 18, a passenger from Sacramento, Calif., gave this account:

"These two got aboard at Los Angeles, origin of the flight, or at Phoenix, Ariz. About 10 minutes out of El Paso, the older one, about 45 or 50, went into the cockpit and pointed a .45 caliber pistol at the pilot's head although we didn't know it at the time."

"Everybody on the plane seemed to think they were Cubans but the boy had blond hair and looked like an ordinary North American high schooler with a butch haircut," he said.

The older man appeared to be the father of the boy. The boy called him "Pop," McCauley, one morgue. Simple wooden coffins were stacked in readiness.

43-Day Tour

The 43-day tour through nine European countries was organized by Gateway Holiday Tours of New York. Each traveler paid $1,027 or more for the trip. The group of 30 women and five men came from all parts of the United States. Many were schoolteachers. A number were elderly. Some were retired. They left New York in June and were taken through Southern England, the Netherlands, Germany, Belgium, Luxembourg, Austria, Italy and France before entering Switzerland.

The bus was driven by Bruno Giacomello, 45, from Como, Italy, an experienced driver on twisting Alpine roads. A Swiss couple, Mr. and Mrs. Hans Gut, acted as tour conductors. All three were among the survivors.

On Scenic Drive

The group spent Tuesday night at Lausanne and left at 8 a.m. Wednesday for the scenic 115-mile drive through the heart of the Swiss Alps to Lucerne. They had a stop for lunch at Interlaken, a little over halfway, while heavy rainclouds began to shroud the mountains.

Shortly after 5 p.m. Giacomello was carefully rounding the tricky highway along Lake Lucerne, seven miles from the end of the very minor injuries but they will be up and around, I am sure, in a few days."

McKinney said "the prompt and extremely sympathetic response by both the Swiss officials and private citizens in this tragic accident is a great and shining example of the Swiss spirit of humanitarianism, for which I expressed the thanks of my country."

Remigi Blattler, president of the cantonal government, and other Swiss officials accompanied the ambassador.

Officials in Hergiswil prepared a gymnasium as a temporary moment later the bus and the trailer-truck collided on a straight stretch of road. The only eyewitness was an elderly Swiss riding toward Lucerne on a motorcycle.

The cyclist did not see much. "One moment the bus was going down the road and the next it vanished, as if by some evil magic," he told police.

Gateway Tours issued a statement in New York saying the trailer truck sideswiped the bus.

or any other world hot spot in the event of trouble. They could also help the NATO forces operate an airlift to West Berlin, should the Communists sever land routes to the city.

Possible Airlift

The fighters could be employed to provide protective cover for a Berlin airlift or an armored convoy if one were pushed through on the land routes. They could also support NATO ground forces if they went into action in Europe.

It was an airlift that broke the Berlin blockade the first time the Russians tried it, shortly after the end of World War II. Between April 1, 1948, when the blockade was imposed, and Sept. 30, 1949, when it was lifted, U. S. and British planes airlifted 2,343,315 tons of food and coal into West Berlin.

It is recognized here that an airlift would be a far different proposition now that West Berlin has become a booming city. It could be kept going on a subsistence level but not as an economically viable unit.

Reds Mechanized

Nevertheless, an airlift is one of the items in current plans for meeting a possible Communist challenge over Berlin. The other items are being kept secret so as not to tip our hand in advance to the communists.

One thing that is not a secret, however, is the concern felt over the paradox that the ground forces of the United States, representing the most mechanized country in the world, are out-mechanized by the Soviet army.

The Russians, who mechanized their forces to an amazing degree in the mid-1950s, have more tanks, trucks and personnel carriers per 100,000 men than the U. S. ground forces.

The defense department is now moving to correct this situation. Part of the $3.5 billion extra it tacked onto the defense budget is going for more tanks, trucks and personnel carriers. There will be more money spent on anti-tank weapons as well.

Police cars, service trucks, ambulances and baggage trucks sped to the plane and formed a ring around it.

Mechanics scrambled around under the plane's fuselage and wings, inspecting damage, but drew no attention from the occupants of the plane.

Officers resumed their negotiations via radio with the gunmen. Continental identified the crew members as Capt. B. D. Richards, 1st Officer R. C. Wagner, 2nd Officer Norm Simons, Director of Passenger Service Lou Finch and Stewardesses Tony Beset and Lois Carnagy, all of Los Angeles.

Names of the four passengers remaining on the plane were not known.

Group Intends to Speak Their Way

Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — A group of Public Health Service scientists intend, when they go to the Fifth International Congress on Biochemistry in Moscow Aug. 10-16, to give their speeches in Russian.

So, for two years, they have been studying the language at lunch time and in the evenings, reading aloud from Russian newspapers and science journals. Dr. Leo Levenbook, reared in England by Russian-speaking parents, is acting as unofficial mentor of the group.

The National Institutes of Health scientists will present 37 papers at this conference, an international triennial event for biochemists from 40 countries.

Arkansas to Remove Light That Led to Supreme Court Appeal

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The Arkansas Highway Commission is going to remove a stop light that led to a State Supreme Court appeal.

The commission directed Highway Department lawyers Wednesday to start action to have the traffic signal on Highway 82 at Alpena taken down.

Highway Director F. R. Oliver said the department had tried previously to get the light removed but without success.

The light came into prominence recently when Ray Garrison of Alpena appealed a $10 fine to the State Supreme Court. He contended the light, which he was fined for running, was illegally placed.

Franklin Jahnke of Markesan. Therefore both Nettleman and Jahnke, who are absent on a European tour, were recorded in favor of withholding.

Democrat Fred Risser of Madison charged the pair was "null and void because the amendment was not even drafted when the pair was signed."

"This is the most flagrant example of disregard for the rules of this body that we have ever seen," he said.

Republicans contended that members could pair on any question and Speaker David Blanchard, R-Edgerton, who voted against withholding, ruled that the pair was valid in all respects.

"I charge fraud," cried Nikolay.

After a shouting match between Blanchard and Nikolay ended, the Assembly voted 52-45 on a party line vote to uphold the speaker's ruling.

Democrats argue that complete forgiveness will knock $34 million in revenues out of the bill by extending tax forgiveness to earnings exceeding $10,000 in 1961.

"This is just another Republican attempt to shift the burden of taxation from those best able to pay to those least able to pay," Assemblyman Ben Riehle, D-Athens, charged.

Assemblyman Thomas Barland, R-Eau Claire, accused Democrats of opposing the amendment "because you are afraid to put a genuine tax revision measure on the governor's desk."

Norman Anderson, D-Madison, said "withholding is a misnomer" when applied to the Republican sales tax bill.

"It is a giveaway," Anderson said.

Democratic Contact Between Assembly, Governor Lost

Party Solons Take Different Tack Than Governor on Tax Revision

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — A heavily contributing factor in the confused battle about tax revision raging furiously in the Legislature probably is a break-down in communication between Gov. Gaylord Nelson, as Democratic governor, and the Democratic minorities in the state Legislature.

The lack of liaison between the executive and his nominal legislative party associates has been shown in clearer outline in the Assembly struggle over the Republican tax revision proposal, after some preliminary glimpses in the state Senate during the last fortnight.

This week while the governor in the executive office was releasing to the public press an elaborate statement of his position that indicated a conditional willingness to compromise with the Republicans, legislative Democrats were taking an irreconcilable position against the Republican measure and everything related to it.

Governor's Minimum

The governor has repeatedly declared that he would not regard as an acceptable tax revision bill, whatever else it may contain, a program that does not include a provision for the withholding of income taxes from individuals and some measure of redistribution of existing taxes collected by the state and shared by localities.

But the Assembly Democrats are on record in solid opposition to all withholding amendments to the Republican tax bill, including the version that was drafted by the governor and was opposed by the Republicans and offered by them only as an obvious means of pacifying the Democratic executive.

Democrats in Assembly floor debate have said again and again that they have not been in consultation with Nelson, that they don't know what his ultimate position on the Republican tax bill will be, and have inferred that they don't much care. They are prepared to make the campaign issue for the party on the sales tax question, they insist, with or without the assistance or consent of the man in the executive office who is the titular leader of their state party.

The governor's staff aides are

Major Part of Plan Approved

Safety Unit Backs 17 Suggestions, Adds Two for Study

MADISON (AP) — The major portion of a program called for by Gov. Gaylord Nelson in an effort to lower the state's rising traffic accident death toll was approved by a committee of the Wisconsin Council of Safety Wednesday.

The committee approved in principle 17 of 24 suggestions made by Nelson. Three other proposals were eliminated, two new ones added and four sent to study committees.

The governor said he would like the program ready by the time the Legislature meets in the fall.

Approved were compulsory vehicle inspection and state aid for driver education programs, as well as minimum speed limits, maximum speed limits to be set by the State Highway Commission for state and federal highways, uniform traffic ordinances and court procedures, and official encouragement of the use of auto seat belts.

On a 7-6 vote the committee approved a proposal that would require every driver when obtaining his license to agree, if asked by an officer at any time, to submit to a chemical test to indicate alcoholic condition. Under present law a driver cannot be forced to take the test.

An eventual system of re-examination of drivers also was endorsed.

Eliminated were proposals asking that all state cars be marked to look like patrol cars, asking Congress to set auto design standards, and revised penalties for traffic law violations.

constantly present on the legislative sidelines, but they are evidently serving as technical consultants, rather than as political emissaries of their employer.

The statehouse has also observed the close relations of Patrick Lucey, the Democratic state chairman, with the Assembly Democratic caucus during the period that it has apparently lost political contact with the Democratic governor. Lucey attended the closed-door strategy session of the Assembly Democrats that was immediately followed by a solid Democratic vote against the Democratic party version of a withholding amendment.

The presumption is that he was interested in urging such a position.

tion by the legislators, in spite of Nelson's urgent pleas for the last three years on behalf of the withholding device in income tax collections.

The withholding amendment gesture of the Republicans is an ultimatum, rather than a disguised effort to persuade Nelson to accept the sales tax program. The Assembly Democrats are obviously worried that the concession may succeed, and are desperately anxious to prevent it.

Republicans cannot yet be sure of getting the tax bill through the Legislature. The prospective margin of votes is so thin that it is perilous. But in the hectic maneuvering during the last two weeks they are confident they have built a roll call record for the Democrats that will be difficult to explain in the 1962 election campaign.

State Solons Okay Calf Identity Plan

Blue Ear Tag to Tell Buyer That Heifer Can be Bought for Replacement

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — After a false start two years ago, the Legislature has set up a system of identification and classification of notch calves produced on Wisconsin dairy farms that producers hope will help to prevent the sale of slaughter animals for breeding or resale only to a slaughterer for stock.

The owner of the herd of origin of any healthy dairy heifer calf from the State Department of Agriculture. Each will bear a "Wisconsin Blue Tag" heifer calf serial number.

Such certification of breed will be on forms provided by the state and to control state animals so classified will be identified by the owner of the herd of origin or by his agent by inserting a blue ear tag in the right ear of the calf.

The owner of any herd of calves, similarly, may identify a calf as a slaughter calf by notching the right ear with a "V". It will be unlawful for a buyer of such a calf to falsely represent that the calf will be slaughtered or resold only to a slaughterer for immediate slaughter.

The blue tags will be purchased by the State Department of Agriculture. Each will bear a "Wisconsin Blue Tag" heifer calf serial number.

The new law is intended to protect the market for purebred calves in the state and to control the purchases of itinerant buyers who were held to be purchasing calves and selling them under false representations within and without the state.

What Next in Berlin?

When President Kennedy made his Berlin address to the American people—and to our allies and enemies—he said that the United States always would be willing to talk with the Soviet Union when suggestions, not demands, for negotiation in Eastern Europe arose. According to some observers in Washington, there really is much more interest in those negotiations in the State Department than in the build-up of our armed forces.

Madison's Civic Center

The Monona Terrace advocates, who have fought for years to get a Frank Lloyd Wright designed civic center built on the shore of the Madison lake, received another blow last week when the federal government regretfully wrote that there was no aid available. The letter from the U.S. Bureau of the Budget explained that authorities were "unable to identify any federal aid program which could provide any significant assistance to the financing of this project."

Iran and Foreign Aid

Ever since Khrushchev made his latest demand the West get out of Berlin we have been expecting a Soviet move in another part of the world. Iran has looked like a logical spot. But it may be that the Russians are waiting to let Iranian unrest and unrealistic American aid policies prepare the climate for a Red take-over.

face by signing the separate treaty to raise its prestige with the Red Chinese whom it may have been trying to impress in the first place.

There is another possibility in all of this talk of negotiation. Do the Russians really want an independent East Germany, losing manpower, seriously beset with economic problems, fanatic in Communist ideology, in charge of those access routes? Does the Soviet Union dare risk being pulled into a nuclear war by somebody else?

What Others are Saying

It's Hard to Understand How Political Blunders are Made

From The Spokane Valley Herald: The more we read the daily foreign news, the more bewildered we become about how we ever let a handful of muddle-heads get into high places of government to lead us into the unexplainable goofs we keep committing. Take this recent item as for instance: The so-called Special Fund of the United Nations recently approved a $1,100,000 loan for Fidel Castro's Cuba. Of that amount 40 percent will be underwritten by the United States. The Soviet Union, in contrast, will make only 3 percent of the loan.

Looking Backward

100 YEARS AGO: Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Aug. 1, 1961. Several of the volunteers from Appleton, writing home, state that during the fight at Centerville, Hiram S. Mings, well known to our citizens as the former printer's devil of the Motor, while rolling his drum furiously as ever he "rolled" for the "working off" of our paper, and varying the exercise by carrying water to the wounded, was accosted by one of the musicians with — "Here, you little devil, get back behind there or you'll be killed!"

Kuehn's Influence Shown in Tax Battle

BY JOHN WYNGAARD: MADISON — The man outside the statehouse who is probably watching, with the most intense interest, the tax struggle now approaching a climax in the legislature is Philip Kuehn, the Milwaukee businessman who as gubernatorial nominee last fall did more to commit the Republican party to a serious consideration of the sales tax than any contemporary.

Wyngaard

Kuehn was the first Republican bidder for the governorship who faced up to a reality that most others had been ducking — most conspicuously Vernon W. Thomson in the last preceding Republican administration who lost the office to Democratic Gov. Gaylord Nelson.

KUEHN'S MEN

It is worth noticing that several of the key men in the sales tax planning in this legislature are lieutenants of the young Milwaukee politician.

Heroic Appleton Boy Missing

25 YEARS AGO: Thursday, July 30, 1936. Gov. LaFollette announced at a press conference that the Wisconsin Highway Commission under his administration had drawn plans to complete the improvement of the entire 10-100 mile system of state trunk highways by the beginning of the tourist season in 1937.

GRIN AND BEAR IT

Married men of the Fourth ward (south side of Appleton) don't claim to be experts at horseback riding but they do think they can straddle the donkey better than the married men of the Sixth ward (north side) and they were to have a chance to prove it Monday night when some trained donkeys were to be brought here for a game under lights at Brandt park.

is keeping up a steady drum-fire of speeches around the state during these crucial days of legislative deliberations on the most important tax decision that has faced this legislature in half a century.

THE NEW CAMPAIGN

It must be perfectly plain to all Republicans and GOP sympathizers that the 1960 nominee of the party intends to have another turn at bat next year.

There would be some appropriateness in having Kuehn as head of the ticket next year of the party that had enacted the sales tax — if it manages to do so. But even if the bill gets through the legislature and is axed by Gov. Nelson, Kuehn can lay claim to having had more influence upon the party on this major issue than any other man out of office in recent times.

Summer Time To be Sure of Road Names

Renumbering of highways according to a new plan worked out by the U.S. Bureau of Highways — in this area and all over the Nation — means that motorists heading for their summer vacations should take extra precautions this year to get the latest road maps and other highway information in advance of the trip.

Berlin Problem Has Resulted in Nothing but Years of Futile Talk

BY JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — A thousand years from now historians rummaging around in the East-West diplomacy of our day, may conclude: "What a dreary, monotonous, unimaginative time that was."

For almost three years there has been endless jabber-jabber over Berlin, with neither side coming up with a really new idea except perhaps some skimpy concessions which neither pleased nor placated anyone.

Now the whole thing is to be done over again, and probably with the same result.

It was late in 1958 when Premier Khrushchev started the flying with his demand the West get out of Berlin. What he had, mainly, was a big yen to take it over. Even this wasn't new. Stalin had tried it 10 years before.

Such a situation, of course, required a meeting of the Western foreign ministers. But they couldn't seem to think of anything more forward looking than not budging. Then they met with the Russian foreign minister and nobody budged.

Another Meeting

Khrushchev finally agreed to an intermission when President Eisenhower asked him over for a visit. Out of this eventually came an agreement for a summit meeting in Paris in May, 1960.

Such a situation, of course, required a meeting of the Western foreign ministers. The purpose of their session: To decide what the West should do when Khrushchev sat down with Eisenhower, French President De Gaulle, and British Prime Minister Macmillan.

It was a bleak foreign minister's meeting. They didn't seem able to think of anything beyond standing pat. And by late April, 1960, this writer summed up the total accomplishment after all the talk:

"The Western allies, with months to prepare, apparently are going to the summit meeting with Russia next month with no new ideas. And Russia, despite some big talk, hasn't produced any new ones, either."

U-2 Incident

It was a summit meeting which never came off. Khrushchev's soning — just remember the 1955 proper GOP view "we'd have to wrecked it after the American U2 summit meeting, the years of talks on disarmament and the spy plane was shot down over Russia. But the main factor in talks on a nuclear test ban — is that nobody budges and new ideas The Western diplomats by this are few.

Sharp Words Exchanged

Nelson, Knowles Discuss Tax Plans

MADISON (AP) — Democratic Gov. Gaylord Nelson and Republican Lt. Gov. Warren Knowles exchanged sharp words Wednesday as they met to consider chances of reaching a compromise on taxes.

"You want to come in and have me pull the fat out of the fire," said Nelson in reference to rejection of his tax revision proposal by Republican lawmakers who are now having trouble passing their own plan.

"It isn't that," said Knowles. "I think this is so important to the future of the state that we must explore every facet in an attempt to reach some agreement."

The huddle, in Nelson's office, took place at Knowles' request. News men were present during the meeting.

Nelson challenged Knowles' ability to speak for his party in tax compromise negotiations. The governor said that to get the proper GOP view "we'd have to have representatives of the so-called Republican mavericks and others."

"You can't speak for the Democrats and I certainly don't propose to speak for the Republicans," Knowles said, "but working with the two groups I feel certain we could reach an area of agreement rather than get ourselves locked in a stalemate."

Neither man offered a way of resolving the dispute that has divided the parties. Democrats are backing Nelson's plan which is hinged to a boost in income taxes. Republicans have offered a proposal centering on a three per cent sales tax boost.

There was a hint of compromise, however, on other features in both packages.

Knowles said he was sure that an area of agreement could be reached on income tax withholding and adoption of a new method of redistributing state-collected revenues to localities.

Further talks are planned for next week.

Russians Reported Willing to Defer E. German Treaty

CHICAGO Daily News Foreign Service

NEW DELHI — The Soviet Union has reportedly told India it is willing to defer signing a negotiate the Berlin question at peace treaty with East Germany any time the United States is if there are any indications the willing.

United States is willing to negotiate the Berlin problem "on reasonable grounds."

This, according to reports, was the meat of an explanation of the Soviet position on Berlin delivered yesterday to Indian Foreign Affairs Secretary General R. K. Baker, pastor of Community Methodist Church, in charge of Burmese by Soviet Ambassador L. A. Benedictov.

Benedictov also is said to have disclosed to Nehru Soviet plans to aid in development of underdeveloped nations of Asia and Africa.

Informed sources said Benedictov explained that Russia wants peace in both Berlin and Laos, but is losing patience with the "rigid attitude" of the United States on Berlin. However, he said, the Soviets are willing to negotiate the Berlin question at peace treaty with East Germany any time the United States is if there are any indications the willing.

Spies for Soviets Smart and Deadly

BY VICTOR RIESEL

ANKARA — There is no business like spy business. Over in Rome, there are Soviet intelligence agents offering ten thousand dollars (in any currency) for a valid American passport. They'll take one. They'll take ten. They want them so they can disguise their people as U.S. citizens and slip them into our country to beef up their underground.

And in this part of the Near East you soon learn that none work harder at the spy business than the Soviet spy masters. And none are deadlier.

Recently they gunned down a young British counter-intelligence agent over in Kyrenia, Cyprus. Not too long ago he had been in on the exposure of the Russians' key London agent, George Blake — a red spy so strategically placed inside Britain that he had been able to tip Moscow on the identity of 40 top British agents, and a few Americans, too.

Hard to Come By

The murdered young British operative, Peter Gray, reportedly had been nosing too closely around still another Moscow master spy. The dead man's operation is the kind the Russians cannot afford. Good agents are hard to come by. Despite its 300,000 spies, the Soviets know that scientifically trained, truly professional global spymasters are scarcer than a scooter-less street in Rome.

Of these few there is one who knows more about the U.S. and in this type of warfare as the how to infiltrate us than anyone Klaus Fuchs spy ring gave the in the Soviet espionage hierarchy. Russians in the atomic field. The only trouble — for the Russians — is that this agent is an Atlanta, Georgia prison. There he is listed as Rudolf Ivanovich Abel. But that's not his name. That's how he traveled from New York to Australia and then settled in London. He was identified when the FBI cracked the case. But no one in the America knows who "Abel" is, only Prime Minister Macmillan. For some years now the Central Intelligence Agency has been demanding a world-wide check. But no one is believed that Abel gave luck. The Russians have covered the orders via the airwaves. Abel knew everything. Now the Russians want him back so badly they've set up an "American ever recognized as their own desk" somewhere in East Germany. When he was arrested the Soviet many, Abel would head it. He Embassy sent two of its people might in fact direct much of the over to confer with him. They haven't done it since. Remember, Francis G. Powers, the Russian her, Rudolf Ivanovich, now 60, want us to pay heavily for him — was not a Soviet diplomat and perhaps with a Russian general ostensibly had no connection with by name of, well, call him Abel the Russian government. The Russians want him so badly they've,

World Tension Spurs Interest in CD Plans

WACO, Tex. (AP)—When local civil defense leaders set a series of meetings here this month to educate the public on atomic warfare, they arranged to seat about 500 persons per meeting. Increased world tension, they reasoned, would more than double last year's crowds of about 200.

Tuesday night, more than 2,000 persons showed up for 1961's first meeting and Ray Barnes, deputy director, said, "We're totally surprised."

Lawrence Says
Mixed Feelings Greet
Common Market Plan

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
IN EUROPE — It's a strange European economic community—paradox that while the American known as the "Common Market" people are worrying over the Berlin crisis and whether military reservists will soon be called up for active duty, the peoples of Europe are talking excitedly about Great Britain's momentous decision "to join the continent." For while, strictly speaking, the British are merely the countries — Britain, Sweden,

Norway, Denmark—associated together in a rival organization known as the European Free Trade Association, or "The Seven." Moscow, indeed, sarcastically calls the whole combination just another "economic subdivision of NATO."
But the truth is that political solidarity in Europe in the long run is dependent on economic prosperity. The drive now is to assure the formation of such a powerful economic alliance that it could, if it liked, play a decisive part in the political program of a United Europe.
Difference of Opinion
The political complexion, however, which some of the members of the six "Common Market" countries — France, West Germany, Italy, Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg—have tried to introduce in their recent meetings is by no means assured of harmony in the future. For, although it was decided by resolution to give "political form and substance" to the organization, there are differences of opinion as to what formula shall be applied.
France, for example, with the strong nationalistic philosophy that is expressed so often by President De Gaulle, is inclined more toward the idea of a loose federation of equals, but with the hope eventually of French leadership. The smaller countries are veering toward a "supra-national" union, or something analogous to the United States of America. Since decisions on this point can be taken only by unanimous vote, it would seem that political integration is a long way off.
There is, therefore, greater enthusiasm among the smaller countries over the decision of Britain to enter the "Common Market" organization than there is in Paris. The presence of two major powers—France and Britain—in the enlarged "Common Market" could tend gradually to lessen the political emphasis and keep the organization preoccupied, as it inevitably must be, with the technically difficult questions of tariff changes to be applied as between the various member countries. For, while a free-trade setup is the goal, all sorts of special arrangements may have to be worked out in the transition period, particularly in Britain's trade relations with Canada and Australia and the other commonwealth countries.
In the final analysis, the enlarged organization will have to draw a line between political and economic questions. Certainly Sweden, Switzerland, Finland and Austria — due to their special positions of neutrality — will wish to have the status only of an "associate member," while Denmark, Norway, Portugal and Great Britain will accept the obligations of full-fledged membership in the bigger "common market" organization.

Controversy Rages
Inside Britain, the controversy rages as to whether the decision to "join the continent" is a wise one. Obviously, those business or labor groups whose industries are to be adversely affected do not like the idea. Others, foreseeing an expanded market made available on the continent, are enthusiastically backing the plan. Prime Minister Macmillan is moving cautiously and is taking one step at a time. It probably will be several months before all the differences, especially with the commonwealth countries, will be ironed out, and before the economic effects will really be felt. Also Mr. Macmillan probably found solace in the old adage: "If you can't lick 'em, join 'em." Surely Great Britain will have more of a say and more influence inside the "Common Market" than outside, particularly if major political decisions have to be made.
So far as the United States is concerned, the impression prevails in Europe that the proposed merger of "The Six" and "The Seven" into a big "Common Market" operation is popular in America. Actually, the Washington government has informally expressed its hope that some kind of economic union will be successful and that political solidarity will be achieved by one means or another. Naturally, the United States doesn't offer any advice as to details, but confines itself at this time to giving support to the general principle of reduced tariffs and to the drive for a bigger trade volume all around.

No wonder the English
keep so cool!
(mix Gordon's Gin in a tall, iced drink—and you will, too!)

The English are not easily fazed, even by summer heat. This national talent was given a cheerful accompaniment in 1769, when Alexander Gordon introduced his remarkable gin. The Gordon's you drink today harks back to his original formula, because one does not tamper with gin of such distinctive dryness and flavour. Try it soon in a tangy Gin & Tonic or Tom Collins. You'll see why, summer and winter, Gordon's Gin is the biggest seller in England, America, and indeed — the world!

Try These Frosty Coolers to Beat the Heat

BY LILLIAN MACKESY
Post-Crescent Food Editor

A dip in pool, bathtub or lake is a refreshing way to beat the heat . . . but since landlubbers are not fish they do have to be prepared for those hours in-between.

That's where tall, cooling drinks come in . . . for a break in the day's work or as light refreshment for entertaining these hot August days.

Two summer drinks that have stood the test of time are lemonade and chocolate sodas. We give them both to you in modern variations that should bring nothing but praise.

The chocolate soda, combining the richness of its chocolate flavor, the soothing quality of ice cream and the sparkle of soda water, can't be topped . . . especially when it's made with the handy quick chocolate mix in powdered form that dissolves instantly in liquids. Fortified with vitamins and iron, it boasts good nourishment as well as a deluxe chocolate flavor.

As for lemonade . . . nearly everyone enjoys this drink during the summer as folks have for years and years. Standard lemonade may be pepped up with lemony ice cubes, made by freezing lemonade and adding other fresh fruit such as berries and perhaps a few mint leaves when the cubes are partially frozen.

Superb Chocolate Sodas can be made with quick chocolate flavored mix, ice cream and carbonated water. Briskly stir together three heaping teaspoons of mix with one-fourth cup of milk in one serving glass. Add two scoops of ice cream, then slowly fill glass with carbonated water. For variation, use different ice cream flavors, such as vanilla, chocolate, coffee or banana ice cream. A few drops of peppermint or almond flavoring go well with these sodas, too.

Iced Tea Popular Since 1904 Fair

Iced tea has been our most sporty or sophisticated. Serve iced popular summertime cooler since tea in a brandy snifter, colorful 1904 when Richard Blechynden, mug, sherbet glass, or old-fashioned glass. For an outdoor party or World's Fair, hit on the idea of barbecue supper, serve iced tea putting ice in his hot tea and or tea punch in a hollowed out serving it to the sun drenched, watermelon gaily garnished with citrus slices and maraschino cherries. Float watermelon balls in the punch.

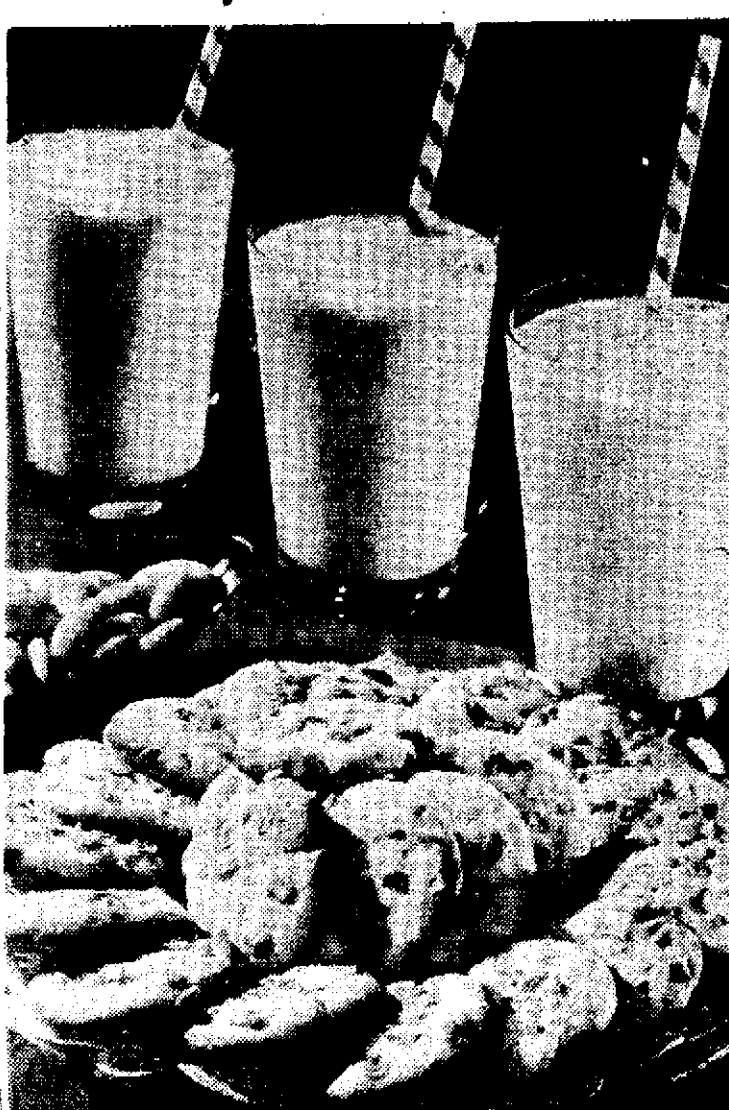

Here are several variations of the popular beverage for sweltering days.

Grape Tea Punch
4 tea bags
1 cup boiling water
1/4 cup crushed mint leaves
1/2 cup sugar
1 cup grape juice
1/4 cup lemon juice
1 pint chilled gingerale or sparkling water
Pour boiling water over tea and mint, brew for five minutes; strain. Add sugar and stir until dissolved. Add fruit juices and, if desired, additional sugar to taste.

parched fairgoers. Today Americans consume over 10 billion fill glasses with gingerale or glasses of iced tea during the sparkling water. Use about one-summer months.

It's fun to glamorize iced tea to a tall glass. Garnish with a half cup of the grape mixture with all sorts of fancy, fruity slice of orange or lemon and a garnishes and citrus juices. Practice sprig of mint. The recipe makes tically any fruit juice will com- six to eight glasses.

Amber Tea Delight
5 tea bags
2 cups boiling water

Lemon Honey Milk and Lemon-Nut Cookies make a cooling duo. Besides being easy to make, their slight tang adds zest to any refreshment menu. The cookies are made bite size for snacking convenience.

2 cups orange juice
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup fresh lemon juice
3 1/2 cups apricot nectar
1 1/4 quarts gingerale
lemon slices
Pour boiling water over tea; brew for five minutes; strain. Mix tea, fruit juices and sugar. Chill. Just before serving, add gingerale and garnish with lemon slices. Recipe makes 15 to 18 glasses.

Honey Punch
14 tea bags
1 1/2 quarts boiling water
1 cup strained honey
2 cups orange juice
3/4 cup lemon juice
2 cups water
1 1/2 quarts gingerale
Orange and lemon slices
Maraschino cherries
Make strong tea by pouring boiled water over tea bags. Brew five minutes and remove tea bags. Add remaining ingredients except gingerale. Chill. Add gingerale just before serving. Have a good size lump of ice in punch bowl. Garnish with orange and lemon slices and maraschino cherries. An ice block may be made by freezing water in any decorative type of mold. Recipe makes 25 servings.

Clean Mushrooms
The ends of mushrooms stems are usually sliced off because they are dry, but the mushroom caps do not have to be peeled. To clean, wipe caps and stems with a damp cloth. Dousing mushrooms in water tends to rob them of flavor.

For more creative home-makers, here are some new recipes for summer coolers that feature lemon juice, as well as a recipe for delightful lemon flavored nut cookies to serve with any of them.

Summertime Punch
2 1/2 cups corn syrup
3 pints cranberry juice
2 cups orange juice
2 1/2 cups lemon juice
3 cups carbonated water
Measure syrup, cranberry juice, orange juice and lemon juice into pitcher. Stir briskly until well mixed. Chill thoroughly.

Just before serving, add carbonated water. Pour over ice to serve. Recipe makes one gallon or 20 servings.

For a novel twist, stand a crisp stalk of celery in each glass, leaving enough of the leafy greens to add a festive and crunchy note to the drink.

Frozen Lemon Mint
2 egg whites, beaten stiff
1/4 cup mint jelly
1/4 cup lemon juice
1 1/2 cups chilled gingerale
Beat mint jelly and lemon juice into beaten egg whites, then beat cold gingerale into mixture. Transfer to freezing tray.

When frozen to a snowy soft consistency, remove to a chilled bowl and beat again until smooth. Return to refrigerator tray and freeze.

Serve in individual sherbet glasses, topped with fresh berries, melon balls or a mound of chopped nuts. Recipe makes six to eight servings.

Pineapple Cooler
1 cup chilled pineapple juice
1/4 cup lemon juice
1/4 cup sugar
Dash salt
2 scoops vanilla ice cream
Measure pineapple juice and lemon juice into mixing bowl. Stir in sugar and salt until dissolved. Add ice cream, and beat until ice cream is melted. Serve at once. Recipe makes two servings.

Garnish each serving with a slice of pineapple arranged over the rim of the glass. For an added touch of glamour, insert a toothpick through the pineapple and spear miniature marshmallows sprinkled with cinnamon on the pick.

Lemon Milk Shake
3 cups chilled butter milk
1/2 cup lemon juice
Dash salt
1/2 cup sugar
2 small scoops ice cream
1/2 teaspoon ginger
Measure buttermilk, lemon juice, salt, sugar and ice cream into mixing bowl. Beat thoroughly. Add ginger and beat again. Recipe makes three or four servings.

Lemon Honey Milk
1 quart chilled milk
Dash salt
1/2 cup honey

1/4 cup lemon juice
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
Combine milk, salt and honey. Beat with rotary beater until thoroughly mixed. Add lemon juice slowly, beating constantly. Stir in nutmeg. Serve at once. Recipe serves four persons.

Lemon Nut Cookies
2 cups all-purpose flour, sifted
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup soft butter
1/2 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 egg
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1/2 cup chopped nuts
Sift flour three times with baking powder and salt. Cream butter and shortening until shiny and smooth. Add sugar in two portions, creaming well. Beat in egg until fluffy, then stir in lemon juice and beat again.

Sift flour into creamed mixture in two or three portions, mixing until smooth. Fold in chopped nuts and blend well.

Measure level tablespoonfuls of dough; shape into balls. Place dough balls three inches apart on lightly greased baking sheets. Stamp cookies out to even thickness (about 1/4 inch) with a chilled flat bottomed glass.

Bake 10 to 12 minutes in a pre-heated 400-degree oven. When done, cookies should be delicately browned around the edges. Remove immediately to cake racks to cool. Recipe makes about four dozen cookies.

Getting to Dummy Key
To Contract

The card that gives you an entry to dummy may not add to your tricks in its own suit, but it may enable you to develop an extra trick in a different suit.

When this hand was played in a recent English tournament, many experts opened the South hand with a bid of two clubs. This was a forcing bid, not guaranteeing a club suit.

North's response of two diamonds was negative, merely showing weakness. South then bid two no trump to show about 23 or 24 points in high cards, with balanced distribution. South actually had only 22 points, but many experts liked the three aces and the fact that the queen and jacks were accompanied by higher cards in their suits.

South ruffs a heart with a high trump, draws trumps with the ace and dummy's nine and ruffs dummy's last heart. This process eliminates the missing trumps and hearts.

Declarer's next step is to lead a club toward dummy's king. If West has the ace of clubs, the contract will be safe at once.

As it happens, East takes two club tricks. Now, however, East must lead diamonds since a club continuation would allow declarer to ruff in one hand and discard a diamond from the other.

No matter which card East leads, South plays for the diamond honors to be split. If East leads a low diamond, for example, South plays low to allow dummy to capture West's honor. Then a low diamond is returned from dummy for a finesse through East.

East might return the jack of diamonds to make matters harder for South; or West might be allowed to win the second club in order to return the queen of diamonds. This is difficult for South to read, but it is more difficult for the defenders to play in such a way as to deceive an alert declarer.

Question
Partner opens with one diamond, and the next player passes. You hold: S-Q 9 8 4; H-A Q 3 2; D-K 10 6; C-K 8. What do you say?

Answer: Bid one heart. If partner shows spades you can raise. If partner, instead, raises hearts you can jump to three no trump to show a game-going hand that can stand either hearts or no trump.

PET DOCTOR
By A. W. Moller, D.V.M.

Q. When should a female cat have her first litter of kittens?
Donna Lee Dolgos, Sayreville, N.J.

A. This question is of strictly academic interest to most cat owners. Usually the owner realizes his pet is old enough to be a mother when he sees her first litter. The first batch of kittens is often a surprise. The average cat is able to litter at the age of eight to ten months, and usually will if not segregated from male company. Unless the pet is highly sensitive, she will show no signs of being in heat. The owner simply won't notice it until too late. I would suggest keeping the cat away from male company until she is a year old. This means confining her to the house, which is difficult but the only way to keep her from having kittens. Mom Feels Officer Gets Too Harsh With Beginning Driver

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: For the past few weeks I've been driving with my son who is 16. He has a learner's permit and is very careful but of course he lacks experience.

Today, by mistake, he made a left-hand turn just as the light was changing to red. A police car appeared out of nowhere and the boy became rattled and drove on through instead of pulling back. It could have happened to anyone.

The officer gave him such a severe tongue-lashing you'd have thought the boy was caught on the roof with a kit of burglar tools. He ended up telling my son to "go home and stay there till you learn how to drive."

You know very well the only way a person can learn to drive is by driving. Don't you think police officers should be more understanding instead of so hard-boiled? — A Mother

Dear Mother: How "understanding" would you be if a learner crashed a red light and put you in the hospital?

"Mistakes" in traffic can spell the difference between life and death — and this means your son's life as well as others. Be grateful that the officer was tough with the boy. An indelible image of a tough cop may be just what your son needs to give him a healthy respect for traffic signals.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: When I was a sophomore in college I began dating a fellow I was crazy about. He was a sophomore, too, and we hit it off great together. He was the star of the debating team and was pretty good at private debating, too. I lost.

I was confident, however, that he was a gentleman, and that whatever happened between us was strictly confidential.

I was wrong. My very closest friend told me last week that her brother who belongs to the same fraternity with my steady, got some very interesting data on me. The details were too accurate to have been guess work.

My boy friend is coming up next weekend. What shall I say to him? Would it be best to change schools in the fall? If he told one person he probably told many. — Humiliated

Dear Humiliated: Tell him he must be brushing his teeth with gunpowder the way he shoots his mouth off. Then show him the door.

Don't change schools, change your code of behavior. One of the many hazards of losing The Great Debate is that the girl, forever after, is at the mercy of a loose-tipped guy.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My wife died two years ago leaving me with a 15-year-old daughter. I took out a few women but my daughter never liked any of them. Finally, I decided to marry and I picked the best of the lot.

A few weeks after we were married my daughter got into a fight with her step-mother which resulted in her moving in with some neighbors we'd known for many years. I worked out a payment plan for her room and board.

She'll be a high school senior in the fall and I want her to move back home. She says she will if I leave my wife. I get along fine with my wife but my daughter says I'm breaking her heart and my first obligation is to her, not a second wife. Is it? — Between Two Fires

Dear Between: Your daughter is being spiteful. Keep your marriage together and don't fall into a trap. Your daughter will be on her own in a couple of years and where will you be?

Are you going steady? Making marriage plans? If so, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Before You Marry — Is It Love Or Sex?", enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope. Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. (Copyright, 1961)

Nehru Rejects Relations With South Korea

Chicago Daily News Foreign Service

NEW DELHI — Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru has rejected South Korea's proposal to inaugurate diplomatic relations, reliable sources reported here today. However, Nehru said he would send a trade mission to Seoul.

Nehru reportedly stated this position yesterday to Chouli Duk Shien, head of a South Korean trade mission here.

The sources said Nehru explained that India is opposed to the division of Korea and any diplomatic exchanges with South Korea would recognize the separation and lead to eventual recognition of North Korea as well.

Nehru told Chouli India favors unification of Korea. He noted that India has only a trade mission in South Viet Nam because it also opposes division of that country.

Rueckl's works are entitled "Marilyn," a portrait, and "Party Cheese Layout," a still-life. Both prints are in color. Jacobs is represented by "Bride in Color" and "Bride in Black and White."

Popular Request at Bureau Never Filled

Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — The most common type of request received at the census bureau, says Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges, is one which says simply, "Please send me the census."

The 1960 census of population and housing will comprise 10,134 reports and about 82,000 pages. They don't send it.

Our Children Promises Important To Youngster, Parents

BY ANGELO PATRI

A promise is a promise and to a child it is as good as done. He depends on it as a surety. He promises, "I'm going to get a bicycle for my birthday." "You are? Who says so?" "My Father says so." Couldn't be any better authority than that. Children have stout faith in the promises their fathers and mothers make them; so, it is highly important that any promise, however trivial, is kept. A broken promise means a loss of faith in the one who breaks it, and that is a very serious matter where a child is concerned. He leans on his parents' strength and their word is to him the expression of that strength.

Since a promise must be kept, making one is no idle matter. Even if it is only a promise that he can have a cookie at four o'clock, it is important. That cookie must be forthcoming lest a child lose faith in the only people he depends upon for strength and courage day by day.

Not Given Lightly

Promises then should not be given lightly. It is not wise to say, "Yes, of course," while reading an interesting bit of newspaper. Listen carefully to an request and give no snap answers. Children are quick to take advantage of inattention; they may wrest a promise from an absorbed elder, which makes for misunderstanding later.

When a request for a gift or a privilege is made, it is well to think twice before saying "Yes." One wants to say "Yes" as often as possible; but there are times when it is neither possible nor wise, so one says "No," and stands by it.

Time means very little to children, even to adolescents; so it is better to delay answering a request that is to be granted next month or next year by responding, "We'll see when the time comes." Many things can happen in a week, a month or a year to put an entirely new face upon the request, and if a promise has been made, things can be most embarrassing.

If we consider a promise sacred — and it should be — then surely we will be slow and careful about making it. That way we insure the faith of the children and our own peace of mind.

Young Hobby Club Use Paper, Black Crayon For Making Shadowgraphs

Shadowgraph cut-outs of your family and friends are easy to make. You'll be surprised at the good likeness you can produce. The finished silhouettes may be hung on the walls of your room. Have the person whose shadowgraph is to be made sit in a straight-backed chair as close to the wall as possible. Remove the shade of a table lamp and place the lighted lamp as close as possible to the subject, as shown in the illustration above. This will cast a sharp shadow on the wall.

Fasten a big piece of plain paper to the wall where the shadow falls. Using transparent tape or pins. Then outline the shadow with black crayon. This should be done rapidly because your model will be able to remain perfectly still for only a brief time and if he or she moves, the shadow will, of course, be changed. In making the outline, begin with the forehead and proceed quickly to the nose, lips, chin and throat. These are the most important parts of the shadowgraph, although you must also outline the top and back of the head.

Remove the paper from the wall. Place it on a big piece of black art paper, then carefully use scissors to cut around the entire outline. When you have finished cutting, you will find that you have produced a black silhouette like that in Figure 1.

If there are any rough, unwanted edges on the silhouette, snip them off with the scissors. The silhouette is then ready to paste on white or cream-colored card-board or art paper.

Estonian Women Demonstrate Efficient Red Health Service

BY GEORGE WELLES
Chicago Daily News Foreign Service

TALLINN, Estonia—In the Soviet Union's health services 17 workers out of 20 are women. A fine way to meet them is to fall ill in clean, orderly, conscientious Estonia.

Even before the Soviets took over the little independent Republic after the Soviet-Finnish War, Estonia was strong on keeping people well. Now it is formidable. "Where can I find a doctor?" I asked. My ailment—worms—was difficult to pantomime and I had no dictionary of Estonian.

In Estonia, I was told, nobody goes to a doctor. You sit still and the doctor comes to you. Though it was a Saturday afternoon, in less than 10 minutes a sharp, commanding rap struck my door.

White Procession

I opened, and a procession in white filed solemnly into my hotel room. It was headed by a tiny woman in her middle 60's, with a white interne's cap on her head. She had thin, competent hands, sharp ice-blue eyes full of humor, and a grandmotherly air of "Well, what have you been up to now?"

She was followed by a blonde nurse, also wearing an operating room cap, but with the turtle neck edge of an orange sweater showing prominently above her tunic. At the end of the procession came an earnest young man in spectacles, a white coat and trousers, carrying a suitcase full of medicines and instruments.

No shortage of manpower here, evidently. I felt instantly better, being overwhelmed by such lightning service, and worse, wondering if I needed it.

Laboratory Test

"Laboratory test, naturally," Grandma. A creamy white ambulance made a terse phone call and pointed to the door. "March, young man," said her finger.

We marched downstairs, led by Grandma. A creamy white ambulance was waiting at the door. We all squeezed in: Grandma and nurse up front, male orderly, interpreter and patient in the rear.

We sped around the corner to the "Polyklinik," Tallinn's largest hospital.

The out-patient department was run by four women, doctors and one male. While I sat there, two women with infants in arms came in. The paperwork was brief and simple, far quicker than in similar American clinics.

Easy Discipline

The discipline appeared easy and human. When a baby, hearing its mother groaning, began to cry in sympathy, a lady sitting near me started up with a snort of indignation, burst into the operating room, and came out triumphantly with the baby in her room cap, but with the turtle neck edge of an orange sweater showing prominently above her tunic. At the end of the procession came an earnest young man in spectacles, a white coat and trousers, carrying a suitcase full of medicines and instruments.

No shortage of manpower here, evidently. I felt instantly better, being overwhelmed by such lightning service, and worse, wondering if I needed it.

Neurologist Explains Retired Man May Think Himself Into Senility

BY ARTHUR J. SNIDER
Chicago Daily News Service

CHICAGO—A noted neurologist says many newly retired people think their way into senility.

He calls this little-recognized psychological malady "pseudosenility" or false senility.

Dr. Wilder Penfield of the Montreal Neurological Institute described it in "Perspectives in Biology and Medicine," a publication of the University of Chicago Press.

It begins when the company gives the man a gold watch and tells him to take a well-earned rest.

He stays home, mows the lawn, carries out the garbage for his wife. When he is well-behaved, she may let him wash the dishes.

Isn't Worth Much

He begins to think maybe he isn't worth much. After all, his memory for recent events hasn't been so good.

(Dr. Penfield explains that this results from a drop in blood flow to the hippocampal gyrus, located in the temporal lobe of each side of the brain. But the rest of the brain is as good as ever for many years to come.)

Some well-meaning friends come to comfort him. They say, "Enjoy yourself. That's all you have to do." He thinks that behind his back they're saying he's going to pieces.

It doesn't take long before he begins to feel himself disintegrating.

Retirement Neurosis

"The man is suffering from a delusion of incompetence, not from incompetence itself," explains Dr. Penfield. He's suffering from a retirement neurosis, a pseudo-senility.

"The whole trouble was that what he needed when he was given the gold watch was a new job, a difficult job—not a rest. Rest with nothing else results in rust. It corrodes the mechanisms of the brain."

Opposed like many others to the compulsory retirement rule in society, Dr. Penfield says it should be looked upon as a time for embarking on a new career—the last career, perhaps, but not necessarily a less enjoyable one.

It may bring in little money; it may be concerned only with good works.

"Disease and disability may overtake men at any age, of course, and force them to withdraw from work," the neurologist said.

"But the capacity of the human brain for certain purposes often increases right through the years that are marked for standard retirement. And who can say? Those purposes may be what the world today needs most."

lady specialist in internal medicine, about 26, tall, with curly hair and a low-voiced lisp. She wrote me out a prescription for a course of pills.

No Charge

I asked to pay for the ride and consultation. "No charge, all part of our national service."

I walked across the city to the cobbled square of the medieval town hall. I entered one of the oldest drugstores in the world, known since 1422, owned by five centuries by a family called Burckhardt, until seized by the state in 1940.

On the walls of the town hall hung a chain and collar, once used to put scolding women on exhibit during church service.

My pills cost 47 cents.

The women who run Estonian medicine say little. But their service is fast, cheap and efficient.

TVA Pleasing Friends With Power Rate Cut

Public Bond Issue Moving Into Free Market at Same Time

NEW YORK (AP)—The Tennessee Valley Authority, whose foes are bitter and many, today is pleasing its friends with the authorization of a new lower retail electric power rate by its distributors.

At the same time a public issue of its bonds is moving into the free market, subject to the decision of that cold-eyed appraiser—the investing public.

And TVA officials are quick to say that the new lower retail rates won't lower TVA's revenues as a wholesaler of power. That is, the officials contend the backing of the TVA bond issue is just as good today as before the lower retail rates were announced. The idea, in brief, is that lower rates will bring more power usage, and therefore just as big a return.

Lower at States' Expense

Spokesmen for the investor-owned electric utilities attack the means by which TVA can cut rates and thus increase consumption—and the very means by which it backs its bonds.

Edison Electric Institute officials say: "TVA doesn't pay federal income taxes and hasn't paid interest on funds advanced by the federal treasury, and so it can sell below cost at the expense of the 50 states."

The argument between the champions of privately owned utilities and advocates of government-owned or sponsored utilities has gone on through all of TVA's life. It was born in 1933 and has now expanded into a $2-billion, complex, which last year had record operating revenues of $242 million.

Financed by Treasury Money

The debate isn't likely to subside, now that the Kennedy administration is showing interest in new government power projects, especially in the West.

Thursday, August 3, 1961 Appleten Post-Crescent A17

Treasury money financed TVA's, or guaranteed by, the U.S. beginnings and early years—some government, but are backed solely by $1.5 billion of it. It is only of late by TVA's assets and revenues, that TVA has ventured into the public-investment field. In 1959 he used to help finance expansion Congress said it could finance its of the TVA power system. It is power operations through public building new generating capacity sale of power bonds up to $750 to meet growing needs in the million. Interest on them is sub-states it serves—Tennessee, Alabama, Virginia and Georgia.

Proceeds of the bond sale will be used to help finance expansion of the TVA power system. It is power operations through public building new generating capacity sale of power bonds up to $750 to meet growing needs in the million. Interest on them is sub-states it serves—Tennessee, Alabama, Virginia and Georgia.

But in granting permission for sale of the bonds Congress tightly limited the territory into which TVA could expand. This was the first issue of $50 million was offered June 28 with a net interest cost to TVA of 4.4 per cent a year.

The second issue of $50 million was offered June 28 with a net interest cost to TVA of 4.68 per cent.

Backed by TVA

The bonds are not obligations power network.

Audience Salutes 'Kismet' as Success

Oshkosh Junior Theatre Finds Exciting Freshness in Music

BY JAY JOSLYN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

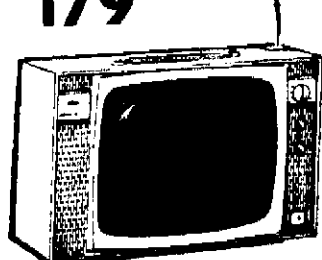

OSHKOSH — The dictionary defines kismet as portion, lot, destiny, fate; but the Oshkosh Junior Theatre must define it as a satisfying albeit arduous labor of love and the first night audience Wednesday at the Grand Theater saluted it as a success.

"Kismet," the musical by Lederer and Davis based on Edward Knoblock's workhorse play, is a spectacle, pleasing to the ear and the eye, a tremendous undertaking for any company, and especially ambitious for a troupe of teen-age and 'tween-aged youngsters.

Wright and Forrest's treatment of the Borodin "Prince Igor" music exploded several hits from the Broadway stage a few seasons ago and the solid favorites "Baubles, Bangles and Beads," "Stranger in Paradise," "Night of My Dreams" and the hauntingly beautiful "This Is My Beloved" recaptured all of their exciting freshness in the Oshkosh Junior production.

This is the company's eighth production, but since the cast and troupe is constantly changing through the ravages of time, it can be considered much as an original effort. The youngsters are tremendous; their efforts more than match their ambition.

The hoary tale of the musical is centered on a rogue of a poet whom Kismet chooses to shower with good fortune. Hence the success of the piece — and the piece was successful — is in the main a tribute to the skill and talent of Mark Schumert. He has a good voice, fine diction and a most wonderful stage presence.

Using a technique made unnecessary by the acoustics of modern theaters and therefore all but forgotten, he made the set piece of "Gesticulate" one of the high points of the evening. Often in a musical, the demands of casting forces a director to be satisfied with either a voice or acting ability, in Schumert's Miss Olive Daventport found a happy wedding of both talents and if he had been asked to dance, there is a strong suspicion he could have carried off that assignment just as well.

Fine Voice
Miss Daventport also was fortunate in being able to find a well-rounded talent in Nancy Wertsch to play the second lead of the poet's daughter. Miss Wertsch is possessed of a remarkably fine voice and she gives promise of becoming a creditable actress as well.

Fritz Leist as her princely lover matches her in the vocal and looks departments making them a very pleasing team.

Looks were the forte of John Moore as the piece's villain. Primarily in a speaking role which he handled well, Moore came close to making the most of his singing moment.

Leni Wright most perfectly fit the conception of a Middle Eastern siren as the villain's "wife of wives," but her inability to project her voice deprived the show of some of its brightest comedy songs. What could be heard, however, indicated Miss Wright has the skill to give the pieces true renditions.

Terry Booth appearing as Omar Khayyam contributed a wonderfully consistent comic portrayal of the Middle Eastern poet.

Large Company
Although the principals held stage center and carried the action of the show, the chorus came close to stealing the quality laurels. Fred Leist has gathered a large company of fine voices and the modern translation of the 19th Century Russian's music afforded them good opportunities to display their wares.

The overall level of the production was high. The sets made up in color what they might have lacked in opulence. The pit combo of an organ, drum, bass viol and piano was in keeping with the Oriental tinted music. Such bit parts as Lynn Seibel as a peddler, Steve DeVoe and Bob Larget as attendants and Dave Smith as a bandit chief added further testimony to the quality level. Paulen Emrich and Carol Streich shone in specialty dance numbers and Pam Tangey added a fine exotic touch with her Persian song ala Eartha Kit.

If in this plethora of satisfaction there was any disappointment it was the lack of barbaic abandon that perhaps should be expected in the choreography.

Considering the effort these youngsters, headed by co-producers Ellen Fox and Glenn Boda, have put into this production, adult attendance is a tribute to young enthusiasm correctly directed. However, the show needs no altruistic crutch. It stands well on its own two feet and can compete with anything else being offered in this most busy week of live entertainment in the Fox Cities area. Kismet will play its tricks on the beggar poet again tonight, Friday and Saturday.

Celebrities Avoid Censure

TV Star, Princess
Focus of Attention
On Italian Riviera

BY CHARLOTTE EBENER
Chicago Daily News Service

ROME — The telephoto lenses concentrating on every move of Princess Soraya of Iran and TV hero Hugh O'Brian have still failed to invade a reproach from the Iranian embassy here.

Soraya and Hugh are having a water-ski holiday on the Italian Riviera.

All of Italy's myriad photo magazines spread pictures of "the jade-eyed princess and the cowboy" in their swimsuits. But the Shah of Iran does not protest, through his diplomats, because every picture has Soraya's American chaperone, pretty Patricia Feehan, somewhere in the background. Patricia does not leave Soraya's shoulder when the princess and the cowboy are out-of-doors.

Raise Eyebrows
Only one snapshot, of Soraya hanging out masculine trousers to dry in the sun, managed to raise eyebrows in the Iranian embassy here.

The divorce agreement between the Moslem Shah and Soraya prohibits unladylike behavior on the part of Iran's ex-queen. Her generous monetary settlement from the Shah depends on her obeying this stipulation.

Amiable Hugh O'Brian, unlike almost every other personality in Italy, has managed to stay out of undignified fights with cameramen.

The Italian press is unanimous in its praise of O'Brian as an attentive "cavalier" to a photo-besieged princess. The words "American Gentleman" appear more frequently than they ever have before in Italian magazines and newspapers.

Holiday Players
Tell of Change
In Play Schedule

MANAWA — R. B. Goldsmith, producer of the Holiday Players, professional summer stock company now playing at the Manawa Theater has announced that the group will change its schedule for the rest of the summer.

He said, "We feel that we can best accommodate our audiences with a rearranged week."

The Players will give shows Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the usual curtain time of 8:30 P.M. The change will take effect with the next show scheduled, "The Rainmaker," opening Aug. 10 and running through Aug. 13.

Changes in ticket prices also will go into effect under the new schedule.

Nat King Cole Airs Blowup With Sullivan

Singer Prefers to Choose Songs for His Appearances

BY JAMES BACON
AP HOLLYWOOD WRITER

(KING) Cole says he — Nat Sullivan personally but can't get along with him professionally. A publicity man sitting in on the interview interrupted: "You don't mean that for publication, do you, Nat?" "Why not," answered Cole. "I mean it." He was explaining his recent appearance on the Jack Paar Show for the controversial $320 fee. But the Paar-Sullivan feud has nothing to do with his appraisal of Sullivan as an entertainer. "I used to be on the Sullivan show so much people thought I must have had something on the guy—but I had to quit," says Nat.

"Ed heard me sing 'Stardust' at the inaugural gala. My contract called for an appearance on the Sullivan show a few weeks later. I picked out four songs mostly now, one is particularly beautiful waltz called 'Illusion.' "Come time for the show, one of Ed's producers called me to say that Ed didn't like the song. He wanted me to sing 'Stardust.' I said: 'Do you know that there have been 140 records made of 'Stardust'?" "That made no difference. It was 'Stardust' or nothing. I told him that 'Illusion' was a new record of mine and I would like to use the show to plug it."

"I got the answer that the Sullivan show is not used for those excerpts from movies and Broadway plays but exploitation? Or have rock 'n' roll kids who make one hit record?" Nat was not on the show—although he was in New York sitting in his hotel room.

On Paar Show Then he returned to Las Vegas. "Jack Paar called me and asked me to be on his show. My answer was: 'Is tomorrow night soon enough?'" On the show Cole did not get into any personal beef with Sullivan.

"I just sang 'Illusion' and mentioned that it was the song Ed Radulovic didn't like."

Sports Car Driver Fined $100 for Hit-Run Violation

OSHKOSH — William C. Chellow, 22, of 832-A Prospect St., Oshkosh, was fined a total of $205 by Municipal Judge Arnold J. Cane this morning after he pleaded guilty of reckless driving and hit-and-run driving. He was fined $100 on each count.

Chellow was the driver of sports car which struck a parked auto at the Winnebago County Fairgrounds Tuesday night. The parked car is owned by Louis Bdeore, 1911 Olive St., Oshkosh.

Bdeore told Winnebago County Police the sports car came around the horse barn at a high rate of speed and struck the left rear side of his car. The hit-and-run vehicle continued on out of the fairgrounds.

Witnesses to the accident obtained the license number and Chellow was arrested at his home the next day.

He was going south on State, making a right turn onto Packard, when the right rear wheel went over the curb.

Keller First Choice of Bar For Judgeship

Three men were designated as qualified for appointment as municipal judge this afternoon by the Outagamie County Bar. Their names will be submitted to Gov. Gaylord Nelson.

The bar agreed not to release the vote, but did announce that Gustave J. Keller was the first choice, Abraham Sigman second and William J. Hegner third.

The appointee would replace Judge Oscar J. Schmiede, who was stricken with a heart attack while instructing the jury Saturday in the Leslie Weiske murder trial. Schmiede died a short time later.

The governor is being notified of the ballot results this afternoon.

City Atty. Don Jury, who was a candidate for judge of the third county court branch in April, announced he was not seeking the appointment.

Gov. Nelson is expected to make an appointment soon. A heavy load of cases is on the municipal court calendar. The appointee will serve until after a special election in the spring. At that time he would have to run for election for the rest of Judge Schmiede's term, which expires in 1967.

Keller, who has been active in Democratic politics for many years, is believed to be the most likely appointee. He is known to have considerable support within Democratic party ranks, among attorneys and others. Substantial support also has developed for Sigman recently. Sigman's brother, Samuel, was special prosecutor in the Weiske trial and now is recovering from surgery at Appleton Memorial Hospital.

Note Requirements

Committees Continue Study of Building Superintendent Job

Two committees of the Outagamie County decided Wednesday to find out whether the job of the county superintendent of buildings can be done as was intended when the job was created.

A meeting with the trustees of the County Hospital and Riverview Sanatorium, also county-owned er their bicycles struck Nielsen's car Wednesday night at Forest Avenue and Third Street.

Donald Noe, 12, 621 Third St., Menasha, and Kim Werner, 13, 324 Naymut St., Menasha, struck Nielsen's auto at 7:05 p.m. Nielsen told Neenah police that he was going east on Forest Avenue when the two youths darted across the street and struck the side of his car.

Miss Werner was treated for a scratch on her chin.

The study of the superintendent position was ordered by the board at its July 11 meeting after a move to abolish the job died out.

The ordinance that created the job in 1950 gives its holder direct responsibility for the maintenance and repair of all county buildings and installations. He also is ordered to keep up a continuous survey of the conditions of all county buildings and report to the Public Property and Insurance Committee. The committee is supposed to see that he does his job.

Members of that committee admitted that Kraus had spent most of his time in recent years doing work of a janitorial nature in the courthouse. The other committee agreed.

Maintenance work at other county buildings has been done either by the commission that used them or the trustees that run them, all agreed. The ordinance says maintenance work will be done by the superintendent "under the direction of the trustees."

Could Save Money

Committeemen felt it was the superintendent's duty to point out what should be done and the trustee's duty to see that it is done.

The job, properly done, is a necessary one and could save the county money, a number of spokesmen claimed. They pointed to central purchasing of maintenance supplies through the superintendent as a money-saver.

When asked why Kraus wasn't instructed to do what the ordinance states, a Public Property and Insurance Committee member said Kraus wasn't capable of doing everything required. "We need someone who knows buildings, building supplies and maintenance," another interjected.

"Then we shouldn't be seriously thinking of abolishing the job," a third supervisor said. "We should be setting up qualifications for the position." There was little argument.

It was suggested that the superintendent's authority be reduced if the trustees won't cooperate with the county superintendent.

Four have applied for the job, after it opens up Sept. 1. They will be notified of the board's action after the question is settled.

Meter Maid Ordinance Will Remain on Books

Appleton Councilmen Defeat Repeal Measure 12 to 6; Call Requirements 'Unrealistic'

BY REINY WESSING

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Appleton still may have meter maids. A resolution by Ald. Alvin E. Tews to kill the meter maid ordinance was defeated 12 to 6 at last night's City Council meeting.

A city hall prediction earlier in the day had it that the law would be repealed by a 15 to 4 vote. Linked with the resolution to repeal was a recommendation to hire five more policemen. This was the source of at least one vote against repeal. Ald. Harold Han-erman said, "I'm going to vote against repeal because I think we have enough policemen."

How They Voted

For repeal: Aids. Bogan, La-Berge, Loos, Stoebauer, Tews and Wagner.

Against repeal: Aids. Captain, Ertl, Groh, Hanneman, Malmstrom, Mueller, Ogilvie, Pointer, Radder, Schneider, Stillings and Stumpf.

Absent: Krueger and Sonkowsky.

Meter maids have been the subject of considerable debate for nearly a year, both on the council floor and in committee. The ordinance authorizing them was passed by the council Dec. 23, 1960.

The issue of repeal was brought to a head last night when Ald. Thomas Schneider asked for a separate vote on Tews' resolution, which was being recommended for adoption in the Public Safety Committee report.

The Public Safety Committee, on July 25, with three of five members present, voted 2 to 1 in favor of repeal. Absent from the meeting were Aids. Homer Malmstrom and Douglas Ogilvie, both of whom voted against repeal on the council floor.

Ald. Robert Stumpf, committee chairman, who had voted for repeal in committee, changed his mind and voted against it on the council floor.

"I'm voting against repeal for these reasons," Stumpf said.

1. "Will the five more police-

Engineer Company To Train at McCoy

77 Officers, Men of Area Unit To Leave for Two Weeks at Camp

Some 77 officers and men of Appleton's 291st Engineer Battalion, C company, will leave Appleton at 6 a.m. Sunday for two weeks duty at Camp McCoy.

The men will conduct their own training in three engineer projects and spend a week in the field under battle conditions.

An advance party is leaving Appleton Friday to draw quarters and supplies. The main body of troops will travel by truck convoy, arriving at McCoy about noon Sunday.

Raze Firing Tower

Members of the unit, from the Fox Cities, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac, Hortonville and Greenville, will take part in demolition work, razing of a firing tower on a gunnery range and building of a parking lot.

The third platoon will use more than 85 pounds of dynamite and cutting torches to demolish an eight-foot-high, foot-thick, 25-foot-long reinforced concrete wall. An earth berm behind the wall is to remain intact.

Construction of a 700 by 400 foot parking lot and paving the lot with hot mix bituminous concrete will be done by the second platoon. The troops also will do excavation and grading of the site.

Session on Firing Range

A 30-foot-high gunnery observation tower will be pulled down with the use of cables and dismantled by the first platoon. Headquarters personnel will be doing administrative work, communications, maintenance of vehicles and engineer construction equipment.

There will be sessions on firing ranges with .30 caliber machine gun, carbine and 3.5 inch rocket launcher. Officers will fire .45 caliber pistol for record.

Activity the first week will end with a formal inspection, parade and review by the 2517th engineer unit training center officers, Peoria, Ill. The parade and review are open to the public.

The second week troops will move into the field for combat training. Bivouac will be in the on this block.

Boys, 12, Steals $300 From Grocery Store

When Appleton police detectives could find no signs of forced entry to the store. They were still out when he got home. He told of hid-Wisconsin Ave., they questioned the loot in a basket of trash people who live in the area and behind the stove and going to found a 12-year-old boy who confessed that he had taken nearly $300 in bills and change from two cash registers and a cash box.

The boy told police he carefully removed the screen from a small window in a hallway next to the store. The window led to the store go-karting. The youth's father had office and was open, he said. He admitted he cleaned out the cash registers, found the cash box in a desk and took change from a bank bag.

Leaves Through Window

Then, police were told, he left through the same window, replaced the screen and went home.

Shortly before the entry, the store owner had changed the locks in the store because he suspected an earlier entry.

The boy was turned over to juvenile authorities.

West's Forces Held Match For Russians

Much Stronger in Europe Than People Believed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Current appraisals in informed Washington circles are that Western forces would be a virtual match for Communist troops in a conventional war.

The feeling here now is that Western allies have far more powerful ground forces in Europe than popularly believed.

Behind this thinking:

- 1 American and North Atlantic Treaty Organization divisions are larger and have more firepower than the Communists, and actually outnumber them on the critical central European front

Tactical Air Power

- 2 The Allies are believed to have as much tactical air power on the central front as the Communists

- 3 The Allied nuclear power exceeds that of the Soviets even though they may be superior in their ability to deliver it via long-range missiles.

This picture is beginning to emerge here in information obtained from Defense Department officials and sources in congress while the Berlin situation remains critical.

The U.S. forces in Europe may be bolstered with a substantial portion of the 28,000 men in 71 Air National Guard and reserve units alerted for possible active duty Tuesday.

They could help build up conventional air power and air transport capabilities in the NATO region.

In an appearance before the House Armed Services Committee last Friday, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara took a view much in step with current appraisals here of the military situation.

He said that "overestimates" of Red power fail to take into account "the problems that the Soviet Union is likely to have with the satellites in the event of an armed conflict."

Spider, Fly Come Back to Neenah Resident's 'Web'

NEENAH — Otto Jelinski's spider and fly have been returned. Two teen-aged youths, 16 and 17, admitted to Neenah police that they took the ornamental decorations from the wrought iron web on the side of Jelinski's home at 825 Maple St.

Neenah police revealed Thursday morning that the youths, one from Menasha and the other from the rural area, were apprehended Monday. They admitted taking the imitation zoological specimens July 24 as a joke.

The boys were released to their parents after a conference at the police station. Further disciplinary action will be taken.

Youth Committed To Institution

OSHKOSH — A 16-year-old Oshkosh youth who admitted on July 16 to entering two business places, was committed to Wales Institution by juvenile Court Judge Arnold J. Cane today.

The youth admitted entering Sawicki's Garage at 863 N. Main St. and Jess' Service Station in the same block on the night of July 24. The youth was traced by a shoe found at the scene of the entrance.

Driver Falls Asleep, Car Leaves Road, Hits Sign, Rolls Over

Theodore W. Lathrop, 22, route 2, Hortonville was treated at New London Community Hospital for cuts and sent home Wednesday after his car clipped off a sign and rolled over.

The car traveled on the shoulder of County Trunk M. just north of Hortonville, for 90 feet and broke a highway marker post, Outagamie County police said. Then it traveled in the ditch for 186 feet and rolled over, police said. The car came to rest on its top.

Lathrop told police he fell asleep at the wheel.

Truck Hits Fence To Avoid Auto

NEENAH — A semi-trailer and trailer driven by Paul W. Michel, Green Bay, crashed through a snow fence barricade at U.S. 41 and Cecil Street at 9:25 p.m. Thursday.

Michel, who was headed south at about 40 m.p.h., said he hadn't noticed warning signs on the highway for a detour at Cecil Street. He told Neenah police the driver of the car in front of him slammed on his brakes and when he saw that he was unable to stop, he went through the barricade rather than hit the car.

Two Boys Injured As Bike Hits Wall

Two boys' fast ride on one bike ended against a concrete wall Wednesday afternoon. Both were thrown over the wall and hospitalized.

Dennis Manteufel, 12-year-old son of Orin Manteufel, 488 N. Lowe St., and Tom Kuehl, 16-year-old son of Frank W. Kuehl, 288 Oak St., Menasha, were treated for cuts and bruises at Appleton Memorial Hospital and released.

A witness told Appleton police the boys were riding at a high rate of speed down a hill near the river on E. John Street. Tom flew over the wall and fell between it and another wall spaced three feet away, police said. They said Dennis landed on the second wall.

Tightsqueezers Like Town's Name

TIGHTSQUEEZER, Va. (AP)—After a brief fling at Fairview, Tightsqueezers is Tightsqueezers once more.

This town got its old name back Wednesday when the Pittsylvania County Board of Supervisors bowed to overwhelming sentiment for Tightsqueezers by Tightsqueezers.

The tiny community's name was "changed" in Fairview a couple of months ago at the request of a district supervisor who said he thought the old name was "ugly."

Ugly or not, the Tightsqueezers boiled over and Wednesday had the action rescinded. And what's more, they accomplished one thing they didn't have before the fiasco started. A new Highway Department sign stands alongside the highway boldly proclaiming "Tightsqueeze."

Flies and mosquitoes spoiling outdoor fun?

Never again! Now Scotts scientists make it easy for you to keep these annoying pests from plaguing you and your guests. You do this with new BOON, a potent powder easily applied with a turn of the crank of Scotts new Zephyr.

Once or twice a week you dust BOON into shrubs, flowers, foundation plantings, other areas where insects land and feed. The Scotts Zephyr atomizes BOON in a dry fog, depositing a nearly invisible film. When insects land in the vegetation and come in contact with BOON they meet their doom.

With BOON you easily make your own yard an island of freedom. There is no odor, no mess and no worry. Use as often as desired without endangering people, plants or pets.

Chiggers a problem? They won't be if you drift a light cloud of BOON across the lawn.

It takes less than 10 minutes to treat the typical yard area with BOON and the Scotts Zephyr. One or two BOON treatments a week will keep insects under control — and assure you of the pleasantest summer you ever spent outdoors.

Menasha Recreation Head Presses for Park Use Rule

Shows Slides Of Areas Before, After Carnivals

MENASHA — One alderman and a handful of interested citizens and officials heard the Menasha park and recreation system's needs, wishes and hopes for strong regulations against using parks for carnivals, at Wednesday's third annual tour of the facilities.

Most of the post-tour discussion period was devoted to the controversial issue of allowing or denying the parks to transient shows, always sponsored for money - making by local organizations.

In the discussion period, Recreation Director Robert Vanevenhoven showed many colored slides of Jefferson Park, both before and after the carnivals used the city's only major picnic facility.

dead brown grass, a vicious dog kept by one family (despite city ordinance prohibiting dogs in parks), carnival trailers and equipment next to sandboxes and other recreational facilities, high-voltage power lines through the small children's swings and horse-shoe courts unusable for scheduled tournaments because machinery was standing over them.

"This is your park, one of the most beautiful in the Fox River Valley," Vanevenhoven told the group, about 25 visitors, as well as park and recreation board members.

Need Ordinance
The park is used for carnivals, said Vanevenhoven, because "pressure groups like the American Legion and Falcons engage them and they move in and the police department won't do anything about it. We need an enabling ordinance."

During the night, the ill-fated park use ordinance was resurrected, with park and recreation spokesmen recounting their displeasure at the common council's failure to approve it.

Earlier this year, the council rejected the park board's policies after several reconsiderations and long discussions in joint meetings. Aldermen contended the new ordinance was unnecessary because the things prohibited already are supposedly covered in other ordinances.

Linus Pfankuch, park and recreation board chairman, referring to the recent council pronouncement that the park board can enforce its present rules in keeping carnivals from the park, predicted "It's going to be pretty tough to get a carnival in that park next year. We can test out power by refusing permits and see if the council will override us."

Extension of Mains to Church Site Sought

NEENAH — A petition for extension of sanitary sewer and water service to the site of the new Peace Lutheran parsonage in Glenayre Meadows plat was received Wednesday night by the City Council.

The council immediately referred the request to the Committee on Public Works.

In other action the council adopted an ordinance permitting installation of 2-hour parking meters on Church Street between West Doty and Columbian Avenues.

The traffic code was amended so as to prohibit left turns at the intersection of S. Commercial and Jackson Streets.

Twin City Chest Goal Is $140,900

Campaign Will Be Conducted Through October

NEENAH—Goal for the 1961 "Heart of Paperland" Community Chest fund drive has been set at $140,900, Joseph F. Ryan, Neenah-Menasha Community Chest president, announced Wednesday.

The fund appeals for 10 health, welfare and youth organizations are combined in the annual Community Chest campaign.

Under the direction of drive chairman Konrad Tuchscherer, the campaign will be carried on throughout the month of October.

Following is a breakdown showing what each agency will receive this year, with last year's budget figure in parentheses:

Total Breakdown
Boys Brigade, $19,116 ($18,763); Boy Scouts, $17,400 ($16,960); Children's Service, $2,428 ($2,235); Community Council, $1,595 ($1,406); Family Service, $9,090 ($10,443); Family Service dental clinic $1,500 ($1,500); Girl Scouts, $14,269 ($12,500); Neenah-Menasha Apostolate, $16,972 ($15,545); Salvation Army, $3,300 ($3,085); Visiting Nurses Association, $28,630 ($27,452); Young Women's Christian Association, $16,180 ($14,766).

In addition, campaign expenses have been set at $2,000 ($2,200); repairs and maintenance to Chest agency properties, $2,000 ($3,000); administration and office expenses, $3,720 (same); and provisions for losses due to moves and transfers of contributors, $2,700 ($2,736).

Hire Engineer At Neenah Works Department

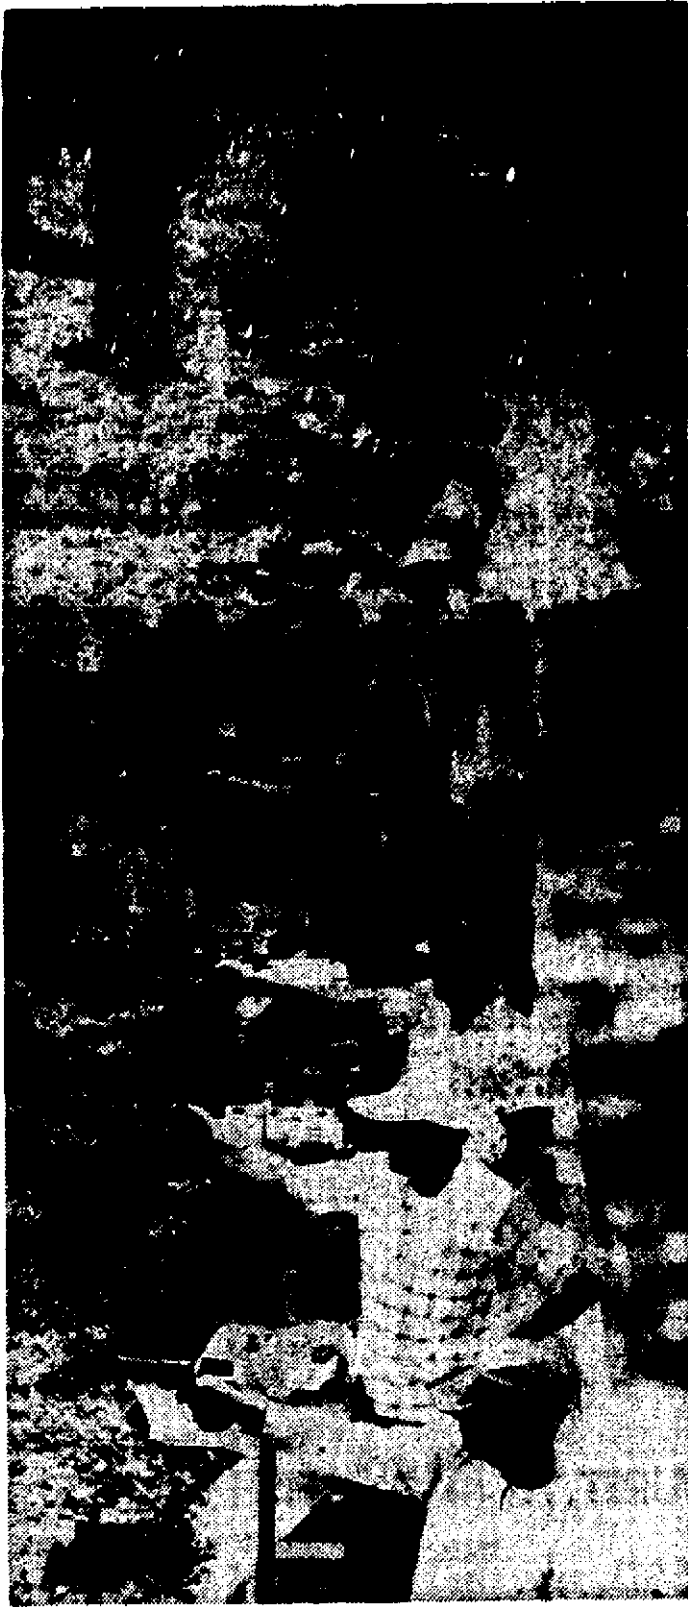

NEENAH—The hiring of Wayne Eckroose, of Madison, as a civil engineer in the Department of Public Works, was announced Wednesday evening by Wayne Bryan, director.

Bryan told the City Council that Eckroose, a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, will report for duty on Aug. 7. He will take the place of Harold R. Luebke, 615 Laudan Blvd., who reaches retirement age in September.

Originally from Rhinelander, Eckroose has been associated with the consulting office of Alex Ely, Service Award.

In other action at Wednesday's meeting, Mayor Chester S. Bell presented a 25-year service pin to Miss Sylvia Kampo, secretary to City Assessor Carlton Williams. In all her years of employment, Miss Kampo has missed only one-half day of work.

Following presentation of the award, the council unanimously voted to approve a recommendation by the Finance Committee that service awards be presented to city employees with long service records. The awards would be presented to all employees who retired as of Nov. 1, 1960, or later.

The Neenah Police Protective Association was host to the Valley police shoot Wednesday with 82 marksmen from nine communities competing. The men shot in one of four classes in individual slow, timed and rapid fire events. In addition a 4-man team from each city competed for top honors in their respective classes. Departments represented were Manitowish, Menasha, Sheboygan, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac, Appleton, Green Bay, Two Rivers and the host Neenah squad.

Most Major Neenah Repair Work Finished

Council Hears Report of Public Works Director

NEENAH — Most of the city's major street repair activities have been completed, including a greater share of the oiling program, Wayne Bryan, director of public works, reported to the City Council Wednesday night.

All of the underground work on S. Commercial Street has been completed, and about 60 per cent of the paving has been laid. It is expected that the curb and gutter work will be started before the end of the week.

Paving probably will be completed by the end of next week. Following the curb and gutter work, the contractor will install sidewalks and driveways. He will then grade and seed the terraces as the final step on the project.

Sewer Work
All of the contracts for sewer work for the year have been let, and by the end of the week, three contractors will be working with four crews. Sewer construction activities will be substantially completed by the end of the year.

All sidewalk construction at the junior high school site will be completed within the next two weeks, Bryan has been assured by the sidewalk contractor. Progress during the last week has been satisfactory.

"The work on parking lots has been practically suspended at the direction of the council while awaiting the report from Schellie Associates."

Research Tour

Report New Method of Fighting Dutch Elm Tree Disease in State

MENASHA — A new method of treating trees infected with Dutch Elm disease was demonstrated in Milwaukee July 13, during a research tour attended by Henry Kargus, Menasha park superintendent.

The new method, which is still under development, calls for the inoculation of the trees, Kargus reported to the mayor and city council Wednesday.

"By using this new method there is less chance of killing the birds and other insects that are good for nature," Kargus said. "So far the results are very favorable."

During the tour, which was held at Whitnall park and at the Milwaukee Municipal Nursery, the park superintendent obtained information which will be put to use in protecting Menasha's trees against the ravages of the disease.

Recommended during the tour was a two-pronged program of education and sanitation.

The sanitation program would involve cleaning out all dead branches and limbs in trees, elimination of all piles of dead wood and elm tree brush, and proper pruning of damaged trees.

Disease Gaining

At present from 200 to 400 samples of wood from Wisconsin communities are checked daily, George Halstead, of the State Department of Agriculture, told the conference. He added that the Dutch Elm disease is definitely on the increase, and recommended that each community set up a sanitation program "to keep good, healthy trees."

All types of trees for park and lic to co-operate with the Park and Street Departments in their fight against Dutch Elm Disease by reporting any infected trees to the proper city officials. Wood from these trees will then be checked, so that the infection can be prevented from spreading to other trees.

Leading the fight against Dutch elm disease in Menasha is a committee consisting of Kargus, Earl Gilman and Evan Baldwin, street superintendent.

"There is available at the Menasha park office at the Memorial building a list of types of trees recommended for planting in certain areas," Kargus pointed out. "All literature on Dutch Elm disease is free of charge."

Kargus urged the general pub-

Waupaca Justice Mixes Law And Humanity in His Work

George Whalen Has 14 Years Handling Cases in County Area

BY DICK McDANIEL
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

WAUPACA — Doors of justice swing wide in Waupaca and surrounding area where Police Justice of the Peace George Whalen has mixed enough humanity with the "letter of the law" to produce a blend of working justice.

He has had enough experience in his 14-year tenure of office to know that law enforcement agencies will not bring in a defendant unless they are reasonably sure there is enough evidence for a conviction.

This, however, is no assurance for the agencies that every case will be a conviction. Justice Whalen has docketed a number of dismissals.

Fee System

He is a full-time, part-time justice. His work is full-time and his pay is part-time. He is paid on a fee basis, which offers a good living, but not a living of luxury.

When he is at the office in City Hall, this represents about one-third of the actual time spent on the numerous cases. He has an office at his home, where he spends two-thirds of his working time.

His "homework" consists of transcribing statements from John Doe hearings, special statements, completing the docket, filling out forms and making reports and a variety of other duties related to the office.

Secretarial Duties

His wife, Margaret, who has had secretarial experience, shares in his homework. Many times the bedroom, which was converted into a business office in their Fulton Street home, resembles a business office with both people working on typewriters, trying to keep up with the work.

Chronic repeaters find that Justice Whalen is a stern judge, who, depending on the conditions, may reach to the limits of the law to be sure that the punishment is severe enough to make the defendant think twice before violating again.

Most of the defendants find Justice Whalen has an open ear and metes out justice fairly. Many will wait until court is adjourned to shake his hand and remain his friend.

One of his biggest preliminary hearings was the Garvin Lee Gillham murder case. Gillham, a Chicago resident, was later convicted of second degree murder and sentenced to Waupun in Circuit Court. The preliminary hearing lasted three days.

Other Cases

Other cases may require a jury trial. The chambers are crowded with witnesses, spectators and attorneys. Attorneys have found Justice Whalen knows the laws and is willing and capable of making decisions on highly technical legal debates.

Justice Whalen born June 7, 1904, in Middleton. After high school he went to work for the Milwaukee Railroad for eight years in the accounting department in Madison.

He started learning the laws when he became a conservation warden at Appleton, Oshkosh and Waupaca. He suffered a heart attack in 1946 and was appointed police justice of the peace in January, 1947.

Won Prize

He has one son, George, Jr., Appleton, and three grandsons. His hobby is woodworking. This summer's project was a new picket fence beside his house. He also won a prize in his hobby by making plastic covered screens for his garage.

Jan. 1, 1962, his office will be abolished and in its place will be an office called Municipal Justice Court. This office will be filled by an appointment and after that the office will be elective.

Fire Hydrant Causes Debate

Alderman Wants It Moved at No Cost To Property Owner

Who should pay for moving a fire hydrant in front of the George Otto Jr. residence, 2401 N. Superior St?

The water department says that if it is moved the owner will have to pay half.

Ald. Clifford Radder, in whose ward the situation exists, says that it isn't fair because it is not the fault of the owner, that the hydrant was placed there.

Radder has been trying to have the hydrant moved at no cost to the owner. "These people can't even park in front of their own house without violating the law," he said. "Somebody goofed when it was put there."

A letter from the water department, saying the owner would be assessed 50 per cent for moving it, was to be received and filed, according to the street and sanitation committee report at the council meeting Wednesday.

Curb, Gutter Canceled

"I don't want it received and filed," Radder argued. "I want positive action to get this rectified by whoever is at fault." He succeeded in having the letter sent back to committee.

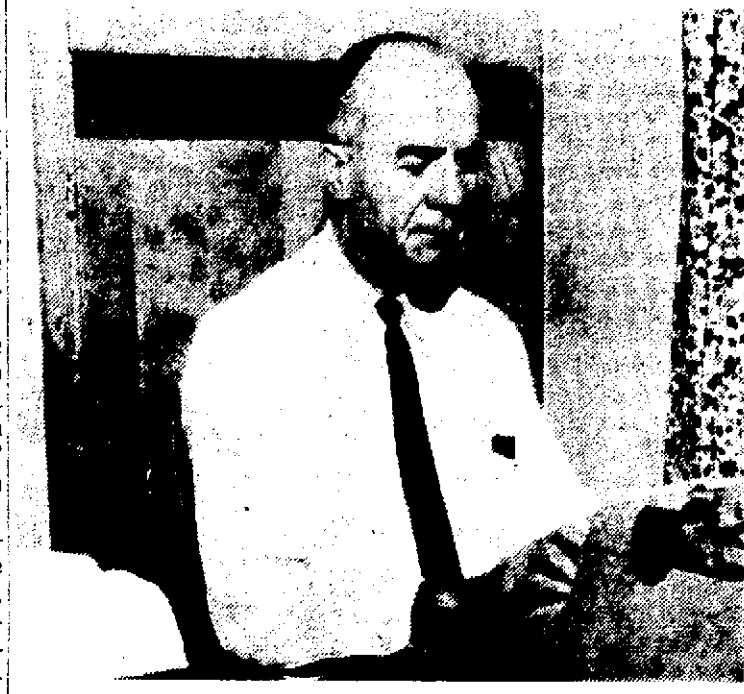

He also succeeded in having Superior Street from Lindbergh Street south for 30 feet removed from the curb and gutter work schedule.

The lot with the hydrant in front of the house is within that area.

"Let's get that hydrant taken care of before we put curb and gutter around that corner lot," he said. "I don't think we should do any more work in that area until we find a solution to the water problem those people have been having, too," he said.

Police Justice George Whalen, Waupaca, has two offices in which to conduct his work. He uses a tape recorder in his office at City Hall, top photo, to take testimony. His office at home, at left, is where Whalen does about two-thirds of his work.

Mulcahy Trial To Open Sept. 14

CINCINNATI (AP) — Charles Mulcahy, a paper firm executive formerly from Green Bay, Wis., Wednesday was ordered to stand trial Sept. 14 on charges of second degree murder and stabbing with intent to kill.

Mulcahy is accused of the fatal stabbing of his estranged wife, Dorothy, 41, last June 13 in a downtown parking garage. The Mulcahys, parents of two children, came here from Green Bay several years ago. Each had filed divorce proceedings.

The second charge stems from the wounding of John Waggoner, 34, of La Crosse, Wis., who was with Mrs. Mulcahy. He said he never met her before and only went with her to the garage to carry a tape recorder after she had completed her first night's work as a musician in a cocktail lounge.

Youth Gets Minor Injuries When Car Leaves Road

OSHKOSH — Armand Lewis, 18, route 1, Omro, escaped with minor injuries when his car left County Trunk E just south of Eureka at 1:20 a.m. today, and traveled 333 feet in the ditch before coming to rest on its side.

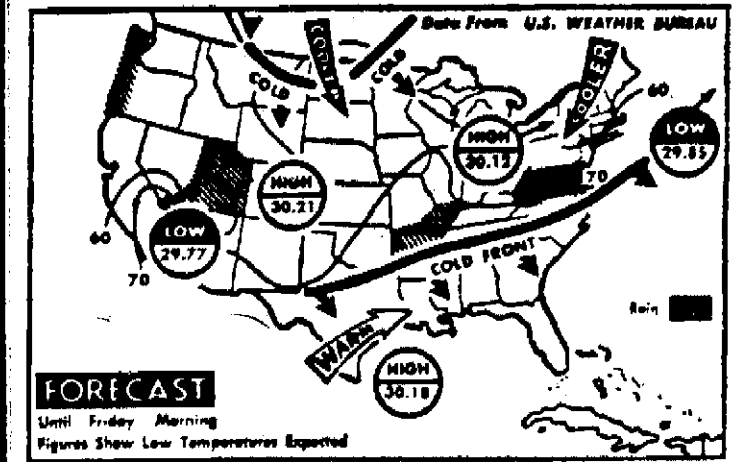

Lewis told Winnebago County Police that he apparently fell asleep and didn't remember anything until he arrived at Berlin Memorial Hospital.

Lewis was traveling north on E when his car went off the west side of the road, traveled 267 feet along the ditch, hit a driveway and flew 57 feet through the air, then slid for nine feet on its side.

Robert Rochon, Berlin, who was driving by, found Lewis in a dazed condition and took him to the hospital. Lewis suffered a cut right upper eyelid and contusions to his upper lip.

Pressure-Tested Pack Veterans Think They Can Repeat as Champs

Winning Attitude Catching as Team Prepares for '61 Season

WEST DE PERE (AP)—The Green Bay Packers are confident but not cocky as they look ahead to the 1961 National Football League campaign. Their "winning" attitude is almost catching.

A rugged band of young, pressure-tested veterans, the Packers are determined to blot out a bad memory—the 17-13 defeat by Philadelphia in the NFL title game last December. They think they had the better team—and want to show it in 1961.

"We want the Western Division championship again and another shot at the big one," said tackle Forrest Gregg. "We feel we can do it, but we aren't cocky. There's no cockiness on the part of anyone after a couple of practice sessions in this training camp."

Gregg, former Southern Methodist star launching his fifth year in the pro ranks, explained that the Packers were "not used to winning" when Vince Lombardi took over as coach two years ago. But, he added, "now we have the idea."

Lombardi, who molded a team which finished with a 1-10-1 record in 1958 into a power in two seasons, appears confident but guardedly shies away from any predictions.

"All I want to say is that we'll have a good ball club," he said. "It's going to be a tough season with a 14-game schedule and a smaller squad of 36 players. A couple of injuries to key men will hurt any club badly."

The Green Bay coach, who also doubles in brass as general manager, said he thinks a 9-5 record may be good enough to win the Western Division title. He added "10-4 certainly should do it."

Ground Attack

The Packers' big threat again will be a hard-hitting ground attack powered by Paul Hornung and Jim Taylor. Hornung set an NFL record by scoring 176 points in 1960, while Taylor, a bruising fullback, rushed for 1,101 yards.

Bart Starr has been handed the quarterback job with the trade of Lamar McHan to Baltimore.

In posting an 8-4 record en route to the division title a year ago, the Packers generally employed an end as a flanker back. However, Lombardi would like to find a speedy back to work with Starr, Hornung and Taylor.

Missed Practice

Herb Adderley, the club's No. 1 draft choice from Michigan State, could supply the speed Lombardi would like. However, Adderley has missed valuable practice time playing with the College All-Stars.

"It's tough on a rookie to miss so much practice time, but we have to accept it," Lombardi said. "Most rookies fall weeks behind. However, we'll try Adderley as a flanker when he reports. Later, we'll move him inside, but it has to be one thing at a time and he'll be only a flanker at first."

Although the Packers have 36 returns and 13 rookies still around, Lombardi claims the club lacks "great depth."

"We're fortunate in that we can shift around if there are injuries in the offensive line," he said. "But we could use help in the defensive line."

"On offense, we're pretty well set with Starr, Hornung and Taylor. Starr gained a lot of confidence last year and should be much better. And I intend to use Tom Moore, who did such a great job for us in spelling Hornung and Taylor as a rookie, a lot more this season."

'I've Got the Confidence'

Sharp Performance May Get Willey Job as Brave's Fourth Starter

Job as Brave's Fourth Starter

CHICAGO (AP)—Milwaukee slider, I have the confidence now. That's all I needed.

Right-hander Carl Willey went the distance and won a ball game Wednesday, and may have taken a long step toward becoming the fourth starter on the Milwaukee Braves mound staff.

Willey limited the Chicago Cubs to six hits in winning his fourth game of the season in the opener of a doubleheader as the Braves posted a 4-2 victory. The second game was called because of darkness after 11 innings with the score tied 7-7.

Willey won his last game as a starter May 21, but needed last inning relief help. He worked mostly in relief after that and won his last game July 13, stopping the St. Louis Cardinals for five innings on three hits. He has five defeats.

After Wednesday's triumph, Willey said, "I know I can win as a starting pitcher. It was mostly confidence—in my self and the

"He's keeping his curve down instead of hanging it, for one thing," Wyatt said. "His slider has improved. Today, for example, he got a lot of hitters out with that pitch."

"But more important, he's hitting the spots."

The Braves and Cubs made no strong protest when the second game was called.

Elvin Tappe, the head coach of the Cubs, registered a small complaint with the umpires but Dresden went along with the decision.

Dresden conceded "it was getting dark."

Frank Bolling and Hank Aaron said much the same.

"The last time I was up at the plate, it was tough to see the ball," Bolling said.

Van Brocklin's Departure May Be Big Factor

can stop a Philly running game, they put more pressure on the passers...none of whom is Van Brocklin. "We've got to limit their push toward the Northern offense," said one of Graham's top aides.

Scoring Team

This should be a scoring All-Star team. In most of their limited triumphs, they've had to score heavily, like the 35-19 triumph over the Lions three years ago or the 30-27 victory over Cleveland in '55.

Last year, in a 29-0 defeat by the Colts, the All-Stars made 19 first downs, all right, and 186 yards throwing the ball, but were held to 21 yards on the ground when it came to making the aerials pay off.

Against the Lions, in '58, Bobby Mitchell, the Illinois speedster, caught a couple of pitch-outs for long, scoring runs and Joe Bellino, the Navy star, could be another Mitchell Friday night. He's little, like the Illini back, but very quick and a fast-breaker. "There's no question but what he'd make a fine pro player if he wasn't going into service," said Graham. "He learns quickly and has typical Naval Academy stamina and reflexes."

There's a little more wagging activity on this game than on some of the others.

Not Same Team

The man in the stands doesn't believe (A) The Eagles without Van Brocklin can be the same team which went through the NFL's eastern teams a year ago and (B) That the Eagles of '60 were in the same title class with other championship teams or can repeat this season. Thus, he's apt to bet a few quid on the collegians.

This is one of the rare times when the All-Stars have better than an outside chance to win.

If you believe Graham (and he's not one to hold the pros lightly after his career at Celeveand) the present collegian squad is much better equipped for an offensive game and might be able to stick it out on defense.

Let's make the final score: All Stars 21, Eagles 14.

Yesterday's Stars

Chuck Schilling, Red Sox — the rookie second baseman broke a 2-2 tie with a run-scoring single in the eighth inning of the first game and homered in the ninth of the finale to snap a 7-7 tie as the Red Sox swept a doubleheader from Los Angeles 7-2 and 8-7.

in the eighth. Frank Thomas, who had four hits including his 16th homer in the nightcap, sent in two runs with a single after Eddie Mathews had singled. Aaron walked and Adcock sacrificed.

The final run crossed on Joe Torre's single.

The defeat was taken by Glen Hobbie, now 7-12.

Packers Sharpen Passing Attack

Joe Francis Completes Six of Nine; Hornung Tries Field Goals

GREEN BAY — The Packers attempted 32 passes in a lively scrimmage Wednesday afternoon and completed half of them.

In all, 38 plays were called in the rough action designed to sharpen the pack's passing and the protection of the quarterbacks.

Of the seven non-pass plays, the QB was rushed and/or dumped and couldn't get the ball off. On another, the signalist fumbled and recovered for a loss. The other two were running plays, both resulting in losses—two for Tom Moore on a draw and five for John Rollins on a reverse.

Offensive Advantage
The four defensive linemen were blocking aprons, which slowed them down some. This was an advantage, of course, for the offense but this was offset by the fact that the defense knew every play would be a pass.

Bart Starr threw 18 passes and completed nine for an even 50 per cent. His understudy, Joe Francis, hurried nine and completed six for the best percentage of the day. Rookie Val Keekin was in on six plays and completed one pass, fumbled once and recovered quickly, and incomplete four.

The show at the Packer practice park on Oneida Street got off to a rousing start.

Starr completed his first two throws, hitting tight ends Ron Kramer and Gary Knafele, who alternated, on successive plays.

Coach Vince Lombardi barked an excited "hot dog!" and the action continued. Jim Taylor, on Starr's third pass, dropped a short flip.

Completes Three
Now it was Francis' turn. Pineapple Joe completed the first three he threw—to Lee Folkins, Boyd Dowler and Clarence Mason.

Starr then returned to the scene and apparently the word was to throw the lone "home run" type pass. The defense was in before he could get off his first two throws. Rookie Clarence Mason was downing him once. Moore tried a run on the third play but Dave Hanner and Hank Jordan put a halt to that.

Keekin got his first chance at this point. His first throw to Steve Mellinger but Em Tunnell broke it up. Val then got off a high wobbling archer aimed at Dowler but the brisk west wind carried it out of reach. Keekin then unleashed a bullet up the middle to Knafele but it was a bit too high.

Starr then returned. . . and so it went — pass after pass and the sock of offensive linemen and back blockers against defense linemen and linebackers who tried a few red dogs.

Coach Intercepts
The closest thing to an interception was by the defense coach himself, Phil Bengtson. One of Starr's shots landed right in Phil's arms.

Kramer caught four; Dowler three; Knafele, Mason and Lew Carpenter two each, and Folkins, Rollins and Max McGee one each.

All injured players, except Paul Hornung, got into the act. Hornung donned pads for the first time since last week and tried some field goal kicking. He ran up and down the stadium steps after practice to loosen up his injured knee.

The pass action helped sharpen the Packers' aerial game for the big squad scrimmage at East Stadium Saturday afternoon. Kick-off is set for 2 p.m. and it will be a full-dress four-quarter session.

The Packers went back to one-a-day drills today for the duration of the '61 season.

Former Packer
Hank Bulough, former Packer guard who is here for a few days on behalf of Michigan State where he is line coach, addressed members of the Optimist Club at their weekly luncheon meeting at the arena Wednesday noon.

He said that the speed of Herb Adderley, the Packers' first draft choice who is now in the All Star camp, is a "complete mystery."

Nobody knows how fast he is because he only runs as fast as he has to. If he ran a race with me today, he'd barely beat me. If he raced with the Packers' fastest, he'll probably do the same thing.

Bulough announced that Allan Reichwald, West High's all-state back, has decided to enroll at Michigan State.

Jim Ringo had been at his home in Easton, Pa. this week due to the illness of his wife. . . Ken Iman has been handling the centering, with help from Bob Beaver.

V.F.W. Defeats Teamsters, 10-2
V.F.W. beat Teamsters 10-2 in the State Bank Division of the Appleton-Little League Tuesday.

Chuck Fischer was the winner. Tim Johnson of V.F.W. slashed a home run, while Bruce Williams of Teamsters tripped.

Misses Twice by Single Stroke
DETROIT (AP) — Doug Sanders not only missed taking the National Open by one stroke. Two weeks before the big event at Oakland Hills, Sanders finished out of the money in the Memphis Open. A final round 75 was one stroke too many at Memphis.

Untouched Since Conquistadors
Capuchin Reports Contact With Primitive Indians

BOGOTA, COLOMBIA (AP) — A Capuchin missionary has reported making permanent contact with the Motilones Indians, who for more than four centuries have lived in jungle isolation in the mountainous jungle terrain along the Colombia-Venezuela border.

Fiercely resisting attempts to pacify them, the Motilones have been the scourge of settlers who since the discovery of oil in the Lake Maracaibo basin in the 1920s have been pushing deeper into the Indians' territory.

The contact between the Rev. Adolfo de Villamanan and the Motilones was made in July 1960. It climaxed 13 years of slow, arduous work.

Slow Advance
"In 1947 we began our campaign to penetrate the jungle and reach the Motilones," said Father Villamanan. "The advance had to be slow and gradual to give Motilon scouting parties a chance to look us over and familiarize themselves with us."

Now a permanent liaison has been established with the tribe, Father Villamanan said.

The Motilones are believed to have fled to the nearly impenetrable mountain jungles to escape the cruelty of the 16th Century Gold-seeking Conquistadors. Subsequent attempts by missionaries, explorers, scientists and adventurers to reach the Indians proved futile.

Hit by Plague
They currently are thought to number about 5,000 but reports from the area say an epidemic, perhaps smallpox, has killed 1,000 of them in the last six months.

Resisting encroachment, Motilon war parties armed with primitive weapons made surprise attacks on isolated settler outposts. Sometimes drought, flood or food shortages touched off foraging raids on settler camps. In an attempt to forestall such foraging, the government this summer sponsored parachute drops of food into Motilon villages.

Air reconnaissance of the area has helped provide what little is known about the Motilones. Of short stature, with features resembling the Carib Indian of the Antilles, their culture and language appear primitive. They live principally on fish, vegetables, corn and bananas.

Not A Discipline
Ciardi criticized graduate schools which teach their students to study poetry as a function of another discipline instead of teaching poetry as poetry. Too often, he said, "the poet is concerned with the inside of a poem, lines; they should be saved until the youth is far along in college and no longer worried about being called 'sissy' for liking poetry."

Lively Verse
To interest the young mind in poetry, liveliness is necessary, as its theme "Improving Interpretation" as rhythm and joy. Lightening in Reading." He defined "inverse, some of the shorter works of Edwain Arlington Robinson and session and took part in the symposium on children's interpretation of the classics.

Prof. Theodore L. Harris, school of Education, served as chairman of the symposium.

The Los Angeles Dodgers, their eyes fastened on winning the National League pennant, would like nothing better than to play the World Series in their new Chavez Ravine ball park. Although the big stadium is rapidly taking shape, it won't be ready until the opening of the 1962 season. If the Dodgers win the pennant, the Los Angeles series games will be played in the Coliseum.

Youth Killed After Climbing Pole on Dare

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — William Patrick Toomey, 22, climbed a utility pole on a dare early today and was electrocuted, police reported.

Police said three teen-agers, including Toomey's brother, saw Toomey climb to the top of the pole and stand on the crossarm in his bare feet. The boys had been drinking, police said.

Toomey leaned against a wire carrying 4,000 volts and was electrocuted. Another wire on the crossarm apparently grounded him, police theorized.

It took 45 minutes to free Toomey. The crossarm had to be cut in two, police said.

Edwards recently turned 23 and comes from Columbus, Ohio.

Expect All Stars to Play Wide Open Game

Collegians Will Try to Beat Pros With Passes From Spread, Punt Formations

BY CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO (AP) — The College All Stars, three weeks of hard-nosed training behind them, will try to bedazzle the Philadelphia Eagles with wide open football Friday night at Soldier Field in the 28th annual midsummer game.

Three passers—Norm Sneed of Wake Forest, Bill Kilmer of UCLA and Tom Matte of Ohio State—are expected to operate mainly out of double-wing spreads and the short-punt formations.

65,000 Customers
The game will attract about 65,000 customers to the big lights of the stadium and will be televised nationally by ABC starting at 9 p.m.

The collegians, coached for the fourth straight year by Otto Graham, have slid from original 13-point underdogs to 9-4. This is the fewest points allotted opposing National Football League champions as favorites in the history of the series, which is sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities Inc.

The All Stars, never installed as a choice by oddsmakers, have won eight of the 27 games played and battled the pros to two ties.

Their last victory was a 35-19 romp over the Detroit Lions in 1958.

Running Attack
The collegians' running attack lost some glitter when Graham decided not to take a chance using Tommy Mason of Tulane, who suffered a pinched neck nerve in the All Stars impressive 14-14 tie last week with the Chicago Bears in a full-game scrimmage.

Bob Gaiters, a crashing runner from New Mexico State who had been counted on to share a half-back assignment with Mason, also is out, so is Jim Johnson of UCLA. Gaiters has a pulled leg.

Former Kaukauna Gridders Invited to Drills at LaCrosse
Three area gridders are invited to a 3-3 tie in nine innings. The game will be replayed at a later date.

Trinity won a forfeit victory from First English.

Jay Needed Team Support to Win
CINCINNATI (AP)—When Joe, Jay lost his first three decisions for the Reds there was a good reason. His mates failed to score one run while he was on the mound. He then reeled off eight straight victories to put the Reds in first place in the National League.

Cardinal Canali, Vatican City's Mayor, Dies at 87
VATICAN CITY (AP)—Nicola Cardinal Canali, for 22 years the mayor of Vatican City, died today of bronchial pneumonia and circulatory complications.

Cardinal Canali died four days after the sudden death of another Italian cardinal, Domenico Tardini, the Roman Catholic Church's secretary of state. The two deaths reduced the membership of the College of Cardinals to 82.

Cardinal Canali had long suffered from a circulatory condition. He was stricken with pneumonia late last week and doctors gave up hope for his survival Saturday. His life ebbed away slowly as he lay in a coma under an oxygen tent.

Cardinal Canali, a jovial, round-faced prelate, had been president of the pontifical commission for the state of Vatican City since shortly after Pope Pius XII created the commission in 1939. The post was similar to that of a municipal mayor.

A member of the College of Cardinals since Dec. 16, 1935, he was one of the few living cardinals present at both the 1939 conclave which elected Pope Pius XII and the 1958 conclave which elected Pope John.

Land Called East Germany Known by Variety of Names

BY JOHN BAUMAN
BERLIN (AP) — The country known abroad as East Germany has a variety of names. But no German calls it East Germany. East Germany's Communists call their country the German Democratic Republic — or GDR. Or Democratic Germany. They regard it as an independent German state, worthy of recognition as such. West Germans still refer to it as the Soviet zone of occupation. Or they call it just "the zone." They regard its government as a Soviet puppet regime forced upon the people and not worthy of recognition. In fact they feel it is so unworthy of recognition that the West German government breaks off relations with any country except the Soviet Union that extends official recognition to East Germany.

The Smaller Segment

There is another West German term for East Germany — "Middle Germany." This is based on the theory that beyond "Middle Germany" lies an East Germany made up of those eastern parts of prewar Germany now assigned to Poland and the Soviet Union. Whatever you call it, East Germany is the smaller segment of divided Germany. With an area of 41,700 square miles, it is less than a third the size of West Germany's 143,300 square miles. Its 17 million population compares with 52 million for West Germany. The country's boundaries—from the Baltic Sea on the north to Czechoslovakia on the south, from the Oder-Neisse border with Poland on the east to the Iron Curtain border with West Germany—were drawn at the allied conference at Potsdam in 1945, right after World War II. At that time East Germany was set up as the Soviet zone of occupation.

Strong Hand Rule

The Soviet occupiers ruled with a strong hand. They dismantled factories and tore up railroad tracks as reparations to be shipped off to the Soviet Union. Early local elections in the Soviet zone showed the majority of voters opposed to the Communist-run Socialist Unity party. But with Soviet backing, the party gained control of the zone's political life and became its governing party when the German Democratic Republic was proclaimed on Oct. 7, 1949. This was the Soviet answer to the establishment of the Federal Republic of (West) Germany by France, the United States and Great Britain a month earlier.

Coperative Efforts End

By that time the break between the Soviet Union and its war allies was fully recognized. Efforts to cooperate in Berlin had long since collapsed and the city had separate governments for the East and West sectors. There had also been the allied airlift, lasting nearly a year, to break the Soviet blockade of Berlin and foil that first attempt to force the allies out of the city. East Germany, impoverished by stern reparations demands, was now called on to build itself up as a flourishing Soviet satellite. A heavy industrialization program left little production for consumers. Farms were collectivized and private firms and tradesmen were squeezed. For four years the East Germans submitted to their fate except for nearly 200,000 who escaped to the West each year. Then on June 16, 1953, building workers in East Berlin demonstrated against heavy work requirements and poor food supplies.

What End to Tyranny

The next day, June 17, popular uprisings broke out in East Berlin and other major cities. The people demanded free elections, food and an end to tyranny. The Soviets proclaimed martial law and brought in tanks and troops to stop the rioting. Leaders of the uprising were arrested and executed. The June 17 revolt was short-lived and brutally suppressed. It got no support from the West. No other has broken out so far. But the continued stream of refugees, totaling more than 2.5 million since 1949, has been a constant reminder of the regime's unpopularity.

Talk, Prediction

The Communists talk about raising the standard of living. In 1954, East German party chief Walter Ulbricht predicted his country would overtake West Germany by 1961. There has been some improvement. But by 1961 his country was no match for West Germany. It still rationed potatoes and butter, its towns were shabby and cities like East Berlin and Dresden were still marred by acres of ruins. They compared poorly with the abundantly supplied, extensively rebuilt cities of bustling and prosperous West Germany. For its size, East Germany has outpaced West Germany in numbers of men under arms. Its army, estimated by Western experts at 110,000 men, is proportionally about equal to West Germany's 300,000. In addition the East Germans have 40,000 to 50,000 heavily militarized border guards and 30,000 "security alert" police. There are also 78,000 civil policemen of less military value and some 300,000 men in militia

Half of Normal Year's Rain Fell in June, July

Rain equaling half the normal yearly total for Appleton fell in June and July, according to the monthly weather report from the Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co. A total of 14.34 inches fell during the two months, setting a new record. The June total was 7.05 inches and 7.29 inches for July. July rainfall was the highest since 1912. The heavy storm Sunday night dumped 2.8 inches of water on the city. Average temperature highs and lows for July were 81.2 degrees and 60.6 degrees. Lowest temperature recorded was 51 degrees at night of July 8. High was 90 on July 27. Both high and low average marks were below the July averages. Average wind velocity for the month was 8.1 miles an hour. Greatest wind recorded was 32 m.p.h. during a thunderstorm July 29. There were two clear days, 23 days of partly cloudy skies and six overcast days during July.

Mrs. Scothorn was graduated from Chaney High School in Youngstown, Ohio, in 1934 and enrolled at Ohio State University. In her sophomore year, she gave up formal education for marriage. Five years ago, she began substitute teaching and started back to college classes to earn her degree. Western experts find this hard to assess. Certainly there would be some substantial defections, especially if the people were to defy the Communists openly. But the Germans have a tradition of military discipline and a hard core of Communist military

Hero's Widow May Go To Tribute Ceremony

Special Fund Will Send Her to Mayenne, France, Where Husband Died in WW II

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP)—Chances appear good that Mrs. Mae McCracken will at last visit the spot in France where her GI husband died a hero. Mrs. McCracken, a motel clerk, has been invited every year for the last 17 years to attend ceremonies at Mayenne, France, in memory of her husband, Pvt. James D. McCracken of Red Springs. However, Mrs. McCracken has never been able to make it—lack of money, illness of her daughter, or the need for holding on to her job. This year, a drive is under way here to see that she gets the money. If it is forthcoming, she and the daughter, Myrtis, 18, will take a jet plane to Mayenne in time for the annual memorial ceremonies Saturday. Gov. Terry Sanford indicated he might be able to arrange military air transportation to and from New York City. Proud State "North Carolina can be no less enduringly proud of its own who stamped his valor and the honor of North Carolina on the Mayenne Bridge for all time," said Sanford. Pvt. McCracken, a member of the 315th Engineers, 90th Infantry Division, Third Army, was one of 11 soldiers who followed an American Tank along a highway into Mayenne on Aug. 5, 1944. The Germans were retreating. They on the bridge and changed the had blown up all bridges across the Mayenne River, except the one on the road the Americans were using. They wired that bridge with explosives, even as McCracken and his squad watched, and carried detonating wires across the river. They then opened fire on the river with artillery and small arms. Cut Wires McCracken dashed from behind the tank and onto the bridge. He managed to cut the detonating wires before the Germans could set off the explosives. McCracken (then was cut down by enemy rifle fire. Mayenne citizens covered McCracken's body with a white sheet and flowers, and subsequently hailed him as "The Savior of the Saviors." They erected a plaque to the memory of the farm boy Germans had been successful in blowing up the bridge and holding out in the town. Each Aug. 5, residents have gathered at the bridge to pay memory to the Tar Heel. Each year they had hoped his widow and daughter would come to join them. This year, they're almost certain to get their wish.

Thursday, August 3, 1961 Appleton Post-Crescent B9

'Peter the Hermit' of 1861

Nickname Fitted Him, but He Outlived Holocaust, Tragedy

BY TOM HENSHAW
Associated Press Staff Writer

They called him the "Peter the Hermit" of secession and Edmund Ruffin filled the role in every way. He loved his South and hated the North and preached secession as the Peter of an earlier day loved his Cross and hated the infidel and preached a crusade. But Ruffin survived his holocaust and that was his tragedy. In the early days of the Civil War, Ruffin, a wealthy Virginia planter, traveled the length and breadth of the South, demanding, cajoling and organizing in the name of Southern independence.

Went North Once
(He went North but once. In New York his luggage disappeared, thus confirming a long-held opinion of Yankees.)

He showed up in Charles Town, Va., for the hanging of John Brown and, perhaps for a brief moment, the eyes of the fanatic of abolition and the fanatic of slavery met across the scaffold.

While in Charles Town, Ruffin came into possession of several pikes with which Brown had armed his followers. He carried one of them throughout his travels. It bore the label: "Sample of the favors designed for us by our Northern brethren."

Against Lincoln
On election day 1860 Ruffin dutifully cast his vote against Lincoln and boarded a train for South Carolina, exiling himself from his native state until it "came to its senses."

"The defense of the South, I verily believe, is to be secured only through the lead of South Carolina," he said. "As old as I am (66), I have come to join you in that lead."

He was guest of honor at the South Carolina secession convention, sitting proudly on the dais like an Old Testament prophet, clad in gray homespun, long white hair tumbling to his shoulders, clutching a "John Brown pike" in his hand.

Commit a Little Treason
Ruffin was in Charleston — to "commit a little treason"—when the Fort Sumter crisis came to a head. Pike, carpetbag and musket in hand, he was off to join the Palmetto Guards.

His comrades in arms, young enough to be his grandchildren, gave him the honor of firing the first shot from their battery at the fort. He was also the first man inside Sumter after its fall.

Next, Ruffin appeared at the Battle of Bull Run, carrying his supplies—a big round cheese and a keg of hard crackers—and seeking his friends of the Palmetto Guards.

Rode on Cannon
He rode into battle on a cannon and fired a shot that landed in the midst of the retreating Union army. Later, he surveyed his damage and expressed disappointment that he had killed only two Yankees.

After Bull Run, the war became a young man's game and Ruffin retired to his plantation to watch in virtual helplessness as the world he had ordained collapsed about his head.

One of his three sons was killed in battle and he was forced to evacuate his home when the hated Yankees moved in. They wrecked the place and wrote obscenities on the walls.

Peened Last Defiance
For days after Lee's surrender, Ruffin brooded and looked about him at a world filled with despised Yankee conquerors. One June morning he retired to his room and penned his last defiance:

"And now with my latest writing and utterance... I here repeat... my unmitigated hatred to Yankee rule... and the perfidious, malignant and vile Yankee race."

Then he put a bullet in his head.

Discontented Cow Shot in Louisville

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—This cow just wasn't contented.

Police Tuesday were forced to shoot to death a 800-pound heifer after she broke away while being loaded onto a truck.

During her wild escape she tied up traffic on a suburban street, knocked down a man trying to catch her, and chased a police officer over a fence.

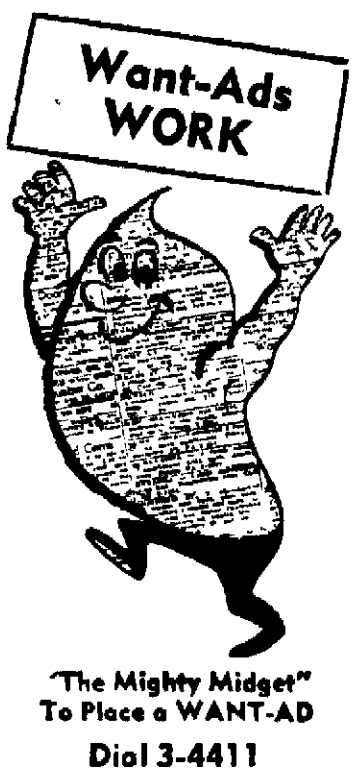

Police may be in for more of the same. Still, missing was another heifer that escaped.

Report Reds Closed Railroad to Tourists

TOKYO (AP)—The Soviet government opened the Trans-Siberian Railroad to foreign tourists this summer for the first time since World War II. Wednesday the Japan Travel Bureau reported the Russians had closed it again without explanation.

The bureau said it had booked about 50 travelers, including about a dozen Americans, for the nine-day train trip to Moscow this summer.

IT'S LOVE AT FIRST BITE

The only flour that promises you

no more sifting

and better baking, too!

You need never sift again no matter what you bake, with Robin Hood Pre-sifted Flour. But that's not all. When you bake this new Robin Hood way you will actually get better baking. We have proved this in tests with hundreds and hundreds of women. Think of that—with Robin Hood, easier baking and better, more flavorful baking, too!

This famous 'no-sift' method was originated by Robin Hood Flour and introduced last January. It is the result of three years of research and consumer testing. Its basis is Robin Hood's unusually high quality and uniformity, and the fact that every bit of Robin Hood Flour is pre-sifted through micro-fine silk.

Try baking the wonderful Rita Martin Sunshine Cake shown here this easy, 'no-sift' way. Notice how much more delicious it tastes. And because of Robin Hood's High Protein Richness, it stays fresh longer, too.

Try Rita Martin's ROBIN HOOD SUNSHINE CAKE

(This is a Robin Hood Pre-sifted Flour recipe)

- 8 egg whites
- 6 egg yolks
- 2 tbsp. cold water
- ¾ tsp. cream of tartar
- ½ cup sugar
- 1 tsp. lemon
- ¾ tsp. salt
- 1 cup ROBIN HOOD extract
- 1 cup sugar
- All-Purpose Flour
- 1 tsp. vanilla

BEAT... egg whites until foamy. Add cream of tartar and salt and mix well.

ADD... sugar gradually, continuing to beat until stiff peaks are formed.

LET... meringue stand while preparing egg yolk mixture.

BEAT... egg yolks until thick and light colored. Add sugar gradually and continue to beat until fluffy.

ADD... flour (not sifted) alternately with water and flavorings, beginning and ending with flour.

FOLD... in the egg white meringue.

POUR... into ungreased 10-inch tube pan.

BAKE... at 325° for 60-65 minutes.

FROST... with fluffy white frosting and decorate with pineapple and cherries or as desired.

*If you use ROBIN HOOD Pre-sifted Self-Rising Flour (sold in some sections of the country) omit salt.

Spoon Robin Hood Flour right from the bag into your measuring cup. You don't have to sift ever because Robin Hood Flour is already pre-sifted through micro-fine silk.

Just stir the other dry ingredients together with Robin Hood Flour to blend. You don't have to sift at this stage, either. Another step saved on your way to better, easier baking.

You will be delighted with the results you get. Not only does this new way of baking with Robin Hood, the pre-sifted flour, save time and trouble, but everything tastes better, too.

British Take Action To Curb Cash Crisis

BY SYLVIA PORTER

In 1960, the gap between what England earned from her exports and what she spent on imports and overseas aid programs totaled over $1 billion. For a nation of England's size, so huge an annual deficit is the quick way to bankruptcy. But in 1960, Britain's weakness was concealed because we too were running a massive deficit, our dollar was in trouble and immense amounts of gold and "hot money" were flowing away from us and into the London market.

In 1961, the gap between what England is earning from her exports and spending on imports and overseas programs is still running on a scale that could not steps designed to cut buying by the British people, compel restraint on wages, prices and dividends, reduce government spending at home and abroad, force British manufacturers to concentrate on producing for export — and thereby balance her income and outgo so she can stay solvent. More specifically, she has:

(1) Hiked the pivotal bank rate (the lending rate of the Bank of England) from 5 to 7 per cent. This will boost rates on personal, business and mortgage loans to at least 8-9 per cent—still enough to discourage borrowing. It also is a sufficiently juicy rate to encourage short-term "hot money" to flow to the London market.

(2) Reduced the amount of credit banks have to lend so banks will be "particularly severe" on personal loans and will channel what funds they have left into financing exports and production.

(3) Put a 10 per cent surcharge on existing sales and excise tax rates to cut spending by around $500 million a year. (Sample effect: a package of cigarettes will go from 58 to 62 cents; a gallon of gasoline, from 58 to 61 cents; a bottle of whiskey, from $5.24 to $5.58.)

(4) Warned labor and management that if they don't restrain wage, price and dividend increases, the government will put the lid on—and take the lead in limiting wage hikes by rejecting teachers' demands for salary increases.

(5) Ordered major cutbacks in government spending for domestic and overseas programs. For instance, subsidies to agriculture are to be cut; loans to city and county governments are to be "considerably reduced;" government spending overseas is to be cut from $1.4 billion a year to $1.1 billion; aid to underdeveloped

Boy Saved From Drowning by Older Brother

FREMONT — Robert Van Lyssel, 4, was saved from drowning in the Wolf River Wednesday night by a quick thinking big brother.

Robert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adrian E. Van Lyssel, 1713 W. Rogers Ave., Appleton, was reaching for a broom at the edge of a dock at the family cottage at Riverview Resort and fell into six feet of water.

The boy thrashed around in the water and didn't call for help. His older brother, Daniel, 16, saw him and pulled him out. Had the boy yelled, bystanders said, he may have taken in water and panicked.

countries is to be "contained." West Germany is to be asked to take over most of the cost of maintaining British forces in the area.

(6) Arranged for a borrowing of $1 billion in dollars and other strong currencies from the International Monetary Fund's pool to strengthen the pound against attacks.

(7) Told businessmen they must radically change their methods of production and devote their energies to stepping up output at competitive prices so that England can sell and earn more abroad.

(8) Taken the initial steps toward joining the European Common Market — a move which will give Britain access to the prosperous consumer markets of Western Europe and the protection of West Europe's strong currencies as well as the challenge to compete with Europe's aggressive manufacturers or die. This is the spectacular move which dwarfs all the other short-run corrective measures. This marks the close of a 500-year era in Britain's grand history.

It adds up to forced austerity in the midst of apparent prosperity and a painful, slow transition by Britain to a new position among the powers of the world.

Tomorrow: How Britain's moves will affect you and me.

Two Lose Licenses

Appleton Residents Convicted of Tippy Driving Charges

Two Appletton residents have been convicted of drunken driving charges.
James A. Cummings, 20, 5640 Spencer St., admitted the charge in Municipal Court Tuesday and was fined $100. His driver's license was revoked for one year.
Cummings failed to negotiate a curve at E. Wisconsin Avenue and N. Union Street Friday, Appletton police testified. The car hit the curb, slid 53 feet across Wisconsin Avenue, jumped the other curb and hit a tree, they said.
He tested .17 on the drunkometer. A test of .15 is considered evidence of intoxication.
Conrad L. Rusch, 16, 1821 E. Melrose Ave., had his driver's license suspended for one year Wednesday by Neenah Police Justice E. P. Arpin.
Rusch was arrested by Neenah police at 1:20 a.m. Wednesday in the 300 block of First Street.
Two other youths were in the car with Rusch. They admitted drinking 21 bottles of beer among the three.
